CATTLE: Compared to Thursday, slaughter steers sold fully 1.00 higher; with instances up to 1 50 higher on the fancy high Choice and Prime stock. It became apparent that 80.00 fed cattle this winter could be a reality after all as several fancy steers on Tuesday sold from 79.00-81.00; and once the good ones are there it might not be long before the ring man starts the rest of them with an 8 instead of a 7. Even though the February Board is a little sporadic as it teeters on both sides of 81.00, it is still extremely feeder supportive. Holstein steers sold with a firmer undertone on light tests. Slaughter heifers sold steady to firm in mixed quality. Breaking and Boning cows sold .50-1.00 lower, with the Lean cow supply trending steady to .50 lower. The cold temperatures outside seemed to cool things off around the sale ring, as bidding was only moderate at its best. Fleshier cows had been a pretty hot commodity over the last few sales, however the extreme top at Tuesday's run was 44.00, which was a surprise as there were several fancy head of Breaking cows on the books. Slaughter bulls sold near steady on a very light test. The supply included 26 percent steers, 7 percent heifers, 55 percent cows, 4 percent bulls, with the balance feeders.

Compared to Tuesday, slaughter steers sold fully .50-1.00 lower. The quality of the run was very mixed, as there was even a pot-load of show steers on hand, as the Harrisburg, PA Farm Show wraps up. The numbers were there for buyers to put loads together, but the varied finish did not make it easy. There were quite a few lighter muscled steers that were Yield Grade 4's, and needless to say do not make a good combo. Bids were even tighter late in the run as buyers backed off even more. The slaughter Holstein and heifer supply was too light early in the week to fully test Thursday's run. There was a good selection of well finished Holsteins on offer, with bidding and interest both fairly good. Slaughter cows sold very mixed, dependent on period of the sale. Bids kicked off with same heat behind them, then tapered up and down after the open. When things were said and done, prices trended about steady. Buyers had no need to fight over them either as over 500 head of cows were in the barn. Slaughter bulls sold with a firmer undertone when compared to Tuesday's light run, as another 100 head made their way to town. The supply included 31 percent steers, 4 percent heifers, 39 percent cows, 7 percent bulls, with the balance feeders.

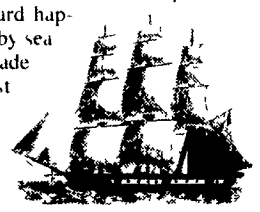
The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

JANUARY 20–26, 2003

MARTIN LUTHER KING JR.'S BIRTHDAY (OBSERVED), JAN. 20

EUREKA!

Gold! On January 24, 1848, gold was discovered at Sutter's Mill, California, and the gold rush of 1849 began, with gold-mad pioneers coming cross-continent to search on John Sutter's land for the precious ore. The migration westward happened not only by land but by sea as well, as clipper ships made their way along the West Coast of America depositing prospectors hoping to improve their fortunes through their haphazard mining for gold. Few found the stuff of their dreams, but Sutter's cattle were killed and his lands trampled, and he finally moved back to Pennsylvania, a ruined and disillusioned man.



Gold is the Devil's fishhook.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

A west wind, like an honest man, goes to bed at sunset.

OPINION

Sam

Sam Hayes (outgoing) Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture

We have a new secretary of agriculture.

That's great news. We wish the new secretary much success in that challenging endeavor.

But I want to remind the fine folks who read this paper that for the past many years, we've been blessed with a great man.

We've heard various names for what we refer now as "outgoing secretary," a true gentleman of agriculture. We've seen "The Honorable Sam Hayes." We've seen "Coach Hayes" from (outgoing) Gov. Mark Schweiker. I've always called him "Secretary Hayes," simply out of respect for who he is and what he does. But those who read his letters see the indelible signature of "Sam."

But we all know what his massive signature implies: a man obsessed with advancing Pennsylvania agriculture.

First and foremost, I believe Secretary Hayes Sam has been the finest ag secretary this state has ever seen. Why? Well, look at this partial list of his accomplishments as reported during Agro 2003:

- With the aid of the General Assembly, and with key support from various groups, including Farm Show Director Dennis Grumbine and staff, Hayes was able to help allocate $90 million for the most major additions and renovations to the State Farm Show Complex since the first Farm Show building went up more than 70 years ago. Hayes also was instrumental in the development of the Livestock Evaluation Center near Rockspring and the PDA Greenhouse.
- On the original conference committee for the Pennsylvania Farmland Preservation Program, Hayes was instrumental in making Pennsylvania the leader in the nation for preserved acres, making Pennsylvania a model program for the entire country.
- Hayes was instrumental in developing the biosecurity plan for agribusiness, far ahead of most other states. This is part of his boundless enthusiasm and tireless promotion of agriculture in the state.
- During the drought of 1999, Hayes was able to help crop insurance programs that have become national models. The total amount exceeds $275 million, overtaking the mere $100 million a few years ago.

What Secretary Hayes has done far exceeds what anybody should expect from an excellent secretary of agriculture. He is now part of what we are and what we will share in generations to come in this state.

We salute Coach Hayes. I sincerely thank Secretary Hayes for all he has done for our state, for our institution, and for our readers.

Thanks!

To Attend The Lancaster County Cooperative Extension Association Annual Meeting

For a winter evening of warm fellowship, an opportunity to enjoy a variety of the county's foods, enjoy a top-quality concert, and to learn about Penn State Cooperative Extension programs, plan to attend the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension Association Annual Meeting Jan. 30.

The meeting will be conducted at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster. The evening will begin with a social hour from 6 p.m.-7 p.m. with food provided by various vendors and commodity groups. As usual, the food will be excellent and plentiful.

Dinner music will be provided by Erin, Amber, and Lindsey Bensing, talented 4-H'ers. At 7 p.m. we will begin the business meeting with introductions, staff program updates, and an election for our board of directors. At 8 p.m. we will be treated to a concert by the McCaskey Gospel choir, which is well known for its excellent programs.

The meeting will conclude with a Penn State report by regional director Michelle Rodgers and awards and recognitions. A separate children's program will be provided in the downstairs meeting room during the business meeting.

Tickets for the evening are $4 for adults and $2 for children ages 6-12, a real bargain! Call the Lancaster County Extension office for more information and for tickets, (717) 394-6851.

To Enroll In Whole Farm Revenue Insurance Plans

Jayson Harper, professor of agricultural economics at Penn State, reminds us the sign-up deadline is Jan. 31 for the whole-farm revenue insurance plans AGR and AGR-Lite. There is a lot of interest in these crop insurance plans, so it is important to make an appointment with a crop insurance agent soon.

When you meet with the agent, you will need copies of your 1997, 1998, 1999, 2000, and 2001 1040 Schedule Fs in order to apply for coverage.

AGR-Lite is available statewide and AGR is available in 14 counties (Berks, Carbon, Columbia, Crawford, Erie, Fayette, Lackawanna, Lancaster, Lehigh, Monroe, Northampton, Schuylkill, Westmoreland, and York). Fact sheets and other information on AGR and AGR-Lite can be found on the Pennsylvania Crop Insurance Education Website: http://cropins.aers.psu.edu. The 2003 version of "Crop Insurance for Pennsylvania Field Crops," "Crop Insurance for Pennsylvania Vegetable Crops," and "Crop Insurance for Pennsylvania Fruit Crops" are available on the Website.

Crop insurance is a valuable risk management tool that allows farmers to insure against losses because of adverse weather conditions, fire, insects, disease, irrigation water supply failure, and wildlife. Crop insurance is federally subsidized and is sold by private crop insurance agents. During 1997-2001, Pennsylvania farmers with crop insurance were paid $61.7 million for crop losses and received $4.32 for crop losses for every $1 they paid in premiums.

Crop insurance is increasingly being adopted by farmers for risk management. In 2002 there was a 20 percent increase in the number of crop insurance policies sold (14,603 for 2002 vs. 12,218 for 2001). The covered acreage increased from 977,000 acres to 1.16 million acres this past year (a 19 percent increase).

A minimum level of crop insurance called CAT insurance is available to all farmers regardless of size at no premium cost (all premiums are paid by the federal government). Higher levels of crop insurance (buyup protection) are also federally subsidized, with farmers paying only 33-62 percent of the actual cost of the insurance (depending on the level of coverage selected).

The commonwealth of Pennsylvania is a strong supporter of crop insurance and has allocated funds since 2000 to help farmers buy crop insurance. This money will be used to pay the $100 policy application fee for CAT insurance and the $30 application fee for buyup protection. An additional 10 percent of the total cost of buyup protection will also be paid by the state, so Pennsylvania farmers pay only 23-52 percent of the actual cost of this coverage (a 16-30 percent discount). The end result is that CAT insurance is free and buyup protection is discounted in Pennsylvania.

Multiperil crop insurance is available for at least one commodity in every county in Pennsylvania; a total of 22 crops are represented across the state. Whole-farm Adjusted Gross Revenue (AGR) insurance is available in 14 counties and AGR-Lite (for farmers with revenue protection needs of $100,000 or less) is available statewide in 2003. For more information, contact Jayson Harper at (814) 863-8638 or e-mail jharper@psu.edu.

Quote of the Week:

"Cultivators of the earth are the most valuable citizens. They are the most vigorous, the most independent, the most virtuous, and they are tied to their country and wedded to its liberty and interests by the most lasting bonds. As long, therefore, as they can find employment in this line, I would not convert them into mariners, artisans, or anything else."

— Thomas Jefferson to John Jay, 1785

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

QUID EST VERITAS?

Background Scripture:
John 18:31-38; 19:12-16a.
Devotional Reading:
I Timothy 2:1-6.

In his native language, Latin, Pontius Pilate asked Jesus that immortal question, "Quid est veritas?"—"What is truth?" It would appear from John 18:37,38 that Pilate received no answer from Jesus, for, as soon as he asks, John goes on to say, "After he said this, he went out to the Jews again. . . ."

I believe, however, that Jesus answered this question before Pilate even asked it. When Pilate asked, "Are you the King of the Jews?", Jesus tried to avoid the semantics trap, explaining that his "kingship is not of this world" (18:36). But Pilate persists and Jesus says, "For this I was born, and for this I have come into the world, to bear witness to the truth."

Jesus has already indicated that truth is not something you have, but what you are and do. He does not have in his human brain all the knowledge and truth of the universe, but he is the truth in that he leads us to God, the source of all truth. In Christianity's earliest days, his followers were concerned not with systematizing the ideas of Jesus, but following the example of their Lord. The truth was demonstrated in their lives individually and corporately. Jesus had said, not understand me, but follow me!

Little Box Of Brains

For one thing, completely comprehending the truth may be impossible because we can apprehend, but not comprehend it with our finite minds. In one of H.G. Wells' works, a Bishop converses with an angel and says, "You can tell me the truth." The angel gently grasps the Bishop's head in his hands, and the Bishop asks, "But can this hold it?" "Not with this little box of brains," says the angel. "You could as soon make a meal of the stars and pack them into your belly. You haven't the things to do it with inside this."

The Bishop is not unique, for none of us have the mental equipment to entertain in ourselves the full truth. "Where were you when I laid the foundation of the earth?" God challenged Job, " Tell me, if you have understanding" (Job 38:4). Job then understands his human limitation and answers: " . . . I have uttered what I did not understand, things too wonderful for me, which I did not know" (42:3b). Instead of finding answers to his questions, he finds God: "I had heard of thee by the hearing of the ear, but now my eye sees thee" (42:5).

Jesus told Pilate that his purpose in coming to the world was to "bear witness to the truth." The way in which Jesus conducted himself before Pilate was a witness to the truth of God. The whole drama from the Praetorium to the hill of Calvary was a pageant of the truth of God through the witness of Jesus Christ.

Truth's 'Companion'

We are never further from the truth then when we think of it as something to be possessed. I have it and I will let you have it! But, like Jesus, we need instead to point people to God so that they may experience the truth, not in lofty human ideas but in the experience of God's eternal source of truth.

Charles Caleb Colton once said that "The greatest friend of truth is time, her greatest enemy is prejudice, and her constant companion is humility." This is what so unsettled Pontius Pilate when Jesus stood before him. Humbly, Jesus embodied the truth.

Some years ago an Old Testament scholar wrote a book in which he expounded a radical theory on the authorship of the book of Isaiah. He admitted that he dreaded the criticism that was sure to follow, but he said, "There is a worse fate than being misunderstood; it is to be to truth a timid friend." Jesus was a humble, but not timid, friend of truth. Pilate asked, "What is truth?" and Jesus showed him:

"From the cowardice that shrinks from new truth, from the laziness that is content with half-truths, from the arrogance that thinks it knows all truth, O God of Truth, deliver us."

— (An ancient prayer)

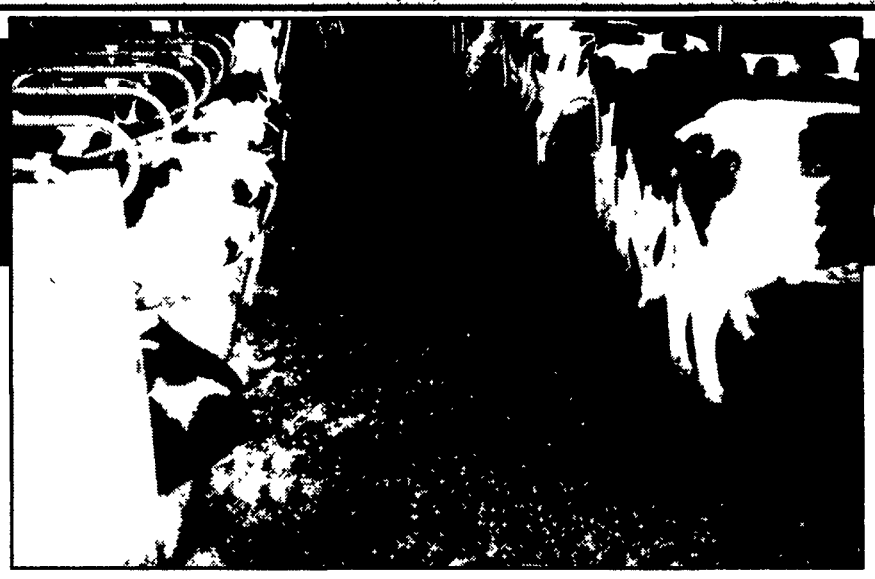
"WAFFLE SLAT" Syri-Con Corporation



"We would use slats again if doing it all over!"

Harold Keeney; David, Nancy & Mark Wolfskill

Our original plan was to install scrapers. But after 10 minutes in a slatted barn in Somerset County, we changed our minds. Some people stay away from slats because of the initial cost, but that extra cost is made up for in the first couple years.

The one thing I like the most about slats is that there is no expense. I don't have any scrapers or drive units to maintain. I don't have to run scrapers every day or haul manure like we did in our previous tie stall barn. The cows' foot health has been a lot better, and the cows stay much cleaner. Our milk production is up and the somatic cell count has gone down. I give at least some of the credit to the slats because with less moisture on the floor, there is less bacteria.

-David Wolfskill

"The answer to the most common question is 'No, there is no build-up.' "

Jan. 11, 2003
COMMERCIAL USE SENDS MIXED SIGNALS

- Butter prices trending lower.
- Nonfat dry milk prices weakening.
- Cheese below support.
- Demand for 2002 stronger than expected.

The markets were generally weak during the second week of January 2003. Of course that is what one would expect after the holidays. Excess milk production normally ends up in butter and cheese production, and demand is noticeably weak.

At the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, block cheese prices fell from $1.1325 per pound on Monday, Jan. 6 to $1.1125 by week's end. Barrel prices held steady at $1.11 per pound most of the week, falling to $1.10 per pound by Thursday. We are now technically below support price levels ($1.1314 per pound for 40- and 60-pound block cheese).

Grade AA butter prices weakened significantly this week at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange because of mounting inventories. Prices fell from $1.1350 per pound on Monday to $1.08 per pound by Friday. This is still technically above the support price of $1.05. However, western butter prices are normally 1-3 cents per pound below Chicago prices. Butter production for the first 11 months of 2002 grew 10.5 percent relative to depressed levels in 2001.

Western nonfat dry milk prices continue to drift toward support levels of $0.80 per pound. For the week of Jan. 6-10, western prices averaged $0.80-$0.84 per pound. Nonfat dry milk production for the first 11 months of 2002 were up 7.9 percent relative to the same period in 2001. Thus the butter/powder tilt is having its effect on market prices.

All of this points to weak market conditions. However, USDA also released 2002 consumption data last week that seems to contradict dour forecasts of weak demand. For the period January through October 2002, milk production grew 2.7 percent and commercial disappearance, a proxy for consumption, grew just 1.1 percent. This reflects consumption on a "milkfat basis." It does not come close to the growth in the milk supply. However, examination of individual finished dairy products looks more interesting. Demand for finished dairy products grew as follows: butter up 4.0 percent, American cheese up 1.3 percent, other cheese up 3.9 percent, nonfat dry milk down 22.4 percent, and fluid milk consumption up 0.2 percent. This seems to contradict earlier USDA reports that "other cheese" consumption, mainly Italian cheese, was weak.

For August through October 2002, consumption of American cheese grew 3.5 percent and other cheese grew 7.9 percent. Even butter grew 6.5 percent. This may suggest that holiday sales were better than expected. However, what really counts is ending stock levels and the rate of growth in cow numbers. Those two factors are still not supportive of higher milk prices, at least not this month.

National Slaughter Cattle Weekly Review

Oklahoma City, Okla.
January 10, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL SLAUGHTER CATTLE SUMARY for Week Ending Jan 10, 2003. Slaughter cattle demand very good with trade opening Tuesday several dollars over last week. Trade was nearly completed by Wednesday with only clean-up remaining. Each trade session inched higher than the previous session ending the period fully 3.00 higher on live basis and 5.00-6.00 higher dressed. Show lists were cleared early leading the way for another interesting trade next week. Packers are expected to slow slaughter rates next week in an effort to move beef values up to compensate for higher live figures. USDA's boxed beef cut-out values Friday morning averaged 125.45 up 6.30 from last Friday. Sales of slaughter cattle on a national basis for negotiated cash trades are large at 236,700 through 10:00 a.m. Friday. Last week's full count was 220,700.

STEERS AND HEIFERS: Midwest Direct Markets: Live Basis: 35-80 percent Choice, 900-1400 lbs 76.50-78.50, wted avg 77.60. SLAUGHTER COWS AND BULLS (Average Yielding): Compared to last sales on December 17, 2002: Slaughter cows steady to 2.00 higher. Slaughter bulls steady. Drought in Australia could limitimports. This combined with lighter fed cattle numbers should make non-fed beef better property than usual this quarter. USDA's Cutter cow carcass cut-out value closed Thursday at 88.34 up 2.18 from last Friday.

East Fluid Milk And Cream Review

Mádison, Wis.
January 15, 2003
Report Supplied by USDA

Spot prices of class II cream, dollars per lb. butterfat: F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: 1.3230-1.4553. Delivered Equivalent: Atlanta: 1.3340-1.4553 mostly 1.3671-1.3781.

PRICES OF CONDENSED SKIM, dollars per lb. wet solids, F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: Class II, includes monthly formula prices: .9500-1.000; Class III - spot prices - .8000-.8700.

SPOT SHIPMENTS OF GRADE A MILK: FLORIDA: This week: In 10, Out 0; last week: In 15, Out 0; last year: In 25, Out 0. SOUTHEAST STATES: This week: In 0, Out 0; last week: In 0, Out 0; last year: In 0, Out 23.

Regional Milk Market Administrators announced the following, December 2002 uniform prices: Northeast $12.24, Mideast $11.12, Southeast $12.76, Florida $14.15, and Western New York (a state order) $12.01 at the base city or county in the orders. (For the Northeast, Mideast, and Western New York orders, statistical uniform prices are reported.)

Colder weather is prevalent across the East. Florida had frost early in the week and temperatures barely broke the freezing mark in the Middle Atlantic area. Milk production is mostly steady in all areas of the region. The prediction of a late-week snow storm in the Mid-South has bottlers clamoring for more milk and suppliers are having difficulty finding needed loads. One supplier noted that his buyers, collectively, added on more than 100 loads to their normal milk orders. Not all the "add ons" were filled in a timely manner. Last minute calls generally went unfilled until late in the week. The extra milk came from intra-company shipments. Florida's need for milk is closely balanced with its own supply, but handlers did import a "handful" of loads this week.

In the Northeast, Class I milk needs are mostly steady. Parts of New York have had heavy snow, but the impact on bottling and retail sales is not as evident as some other areas that get snow less frequently. Surplus milk volumes are tight in the Southeast, lighter in the Northeast.

The condensed skim market is little changed. Demand is slow to fair and prices are steady.

The fluid cream market is weak Prices are lower as the CME weekly butter price average did decline 3.0 cents last week. Cream offerings are heavy and excess loads continue to move to local and Midwestern churning facilities. Reports indicate that butter makers are pushing their "pay multiples" lower as the cream supplies increase and the butter market struggles to maintain the current price. Cream cheese production is steady to lighter. Producers appear to be taking fewer spot loads unless multiples are adjusted lower. Ice cream output is typical for this time of year. Some ice cream makers are taking advantage of the relatively low price of fat to replenish and/or build inventories of their best selling flavors. Churning activity is heavy.

Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL FEEDER & STOCKER SUMMARY for week ending Jan. 10, 2003. Total Receipts: 512,200, last week 84,600. Direct 75,000;last week 34,200. Video/Internet 1,400, last week 21,100. Auctions 435,800, last week 29,300. This weeks reported auction volume included 48 percent over 600 lb and 42 percent heifers.

Feeder and stocker cattle marketing was very active this past week, following the long holiday break. Price comparisons were difficult after a nearly three week hiatus, but in general most feeder markets were slightly higher this week than they were before Christmas. However, for those few areas that had auction or direct sales last week, this weeks prices trended lower especially on yearling feeder cattle. Receipts were very heavy this past week, especially in the Northern Plains where many livestock auctions held special sales to kick off the New Year. North and South Dakota reported over 86,000 head of feeders in the auctions covered by the Federal-State Livestock Market News Service.

Stock Show Specials are increasing the auction receipts in Colorado, where the livestock industry celebrates the National Western. The biggest of these will be Superior Videos Bellringer which is expecting around 125,000 head and scheduled for January 15-17 in Denver. Unseasonably warm weather swept across the midsection of the country this week, setting record temperatures in Kansas City, Des Moines, and Minneapolis.

Northern feedlot areas have been spared by winter storms this year and the outstanding performance should help pull some heavier numbers of finished cattle forward and out of the glut of early summer numbers. Feedlots would like to put their entire yard on the showlist, as prices advanced 2.00-3.00 live and mostly 5.00 dressed this week to close at mostly 78.00 and 123.00-124.00. Cattle feeders have their hearts set on 80.00 for next week and a continuing strong dressed beef market should make this a reality.

This fat cattle market rally lends little support to the feeder market, as finished prices are expected to take a sharp decline by the time today's feeders are ready for slaughter. June CME Live Cattle contracts are more than 8.00 behind April. But for now, fat cattle prices are still advancing and you can bet that cattle feeders will kick this horse until its dead.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "This facility is for you — it's for you throughout your lifetime," said Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Sam Hayes to about 1,500 FFA members, family, and friends.

Hayes, who spoke Monday afternoon at the 74th annual Pennsylvania FFA Mid-Winter Convention, conducted this year for the first time in the new Banquet Hall at the complex, told the FFA officers and chapter members that growth "begins with you — not someone else, not some institution. It begins with you."

Hayes was the recipient of the first Dr. Don Evans Friend For Agriculture Award for his influence on the future of state FFA. Hayes urged members, parents, and volunteers to "pick up the torch that he dropped" after Evans died unexpectedly some time ago.

Two hundred and fifty-two members out of 8,000 members in 147 chapters throughout the state received the state's highest honor, the Keystone Degree, during ceremonies Monday afternoon. Information on those award winners was presented in Lancaster Farming in the Farm Show Section E on Jan. 11.

During the ceremonies, awards were presented to the state stars, honoring the "best of the best" in the Pennsylvania FFA Association.

Thomas Carey, Pennsylvania Department of Education, said the department "understands the importance of ag education."

Carey said, "You are the future leaders in terms of the Pennsylvania farm industry."

He told those present that "true success is loving what you do, who you are, and how you live."

During the ceremonies, Blue and Gold awards were presented to several for their support of FFA. They included Keith Weigner, public relations, Hatfield Quality Meats; Cliff Day, agriscience instructor, Grassland FFA, Garden Spot High School; and Willie Sole, president of

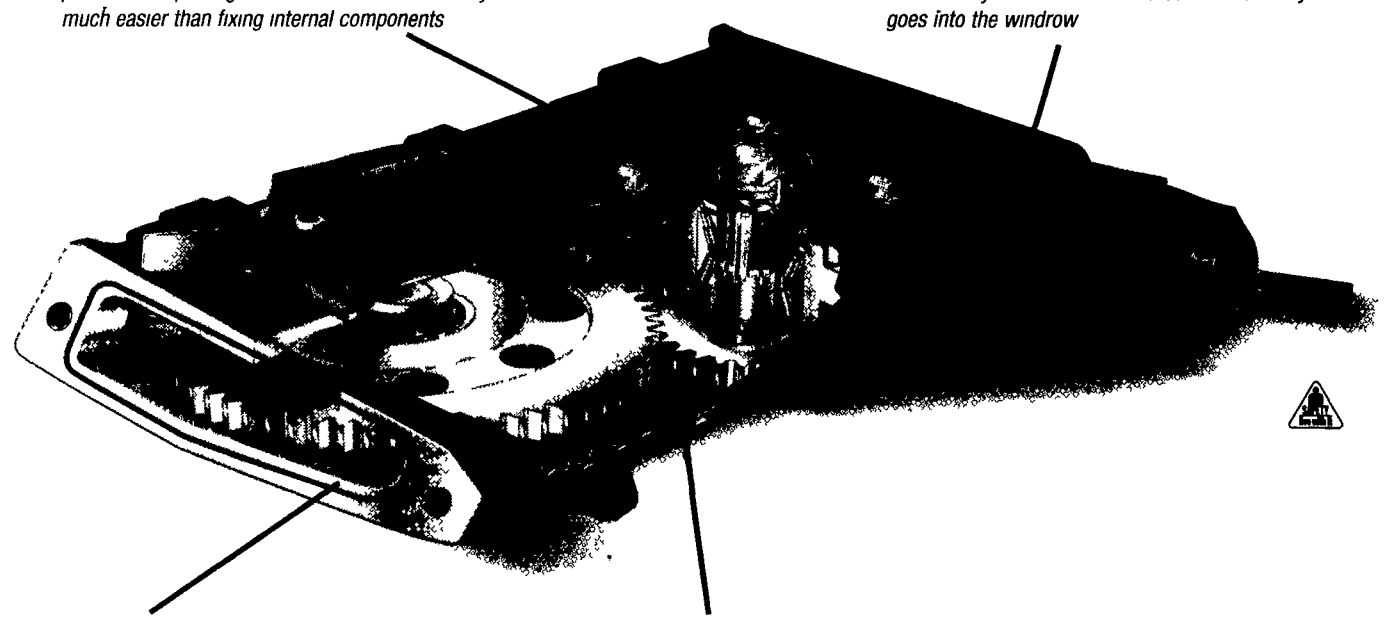
What makes John Deere Rotary MoCos better?

Shear Genius.

A smarter way to protect.
Each disk is protected with a patented shearhub for the best disk protection in the industry Should you hit an obstruction, the splines shear, leaving the inner gears protected Replacing a shear hub is far less costly and much easier than fixing internal components

A smarter way to harvest hay.
Disks rotate toward the center of the cutting platform to lift the crop and cut cleaner And since knives usually rotate toward each other, streaking is dramatically reduced or eliminated All of the hay goes into the windrow



A smarter design.
Each diagonal-cut module can slide in and out without the cutterbar being removed The common oil reservoir, with up to 11 quart capacity, delivers plenty of cooling lubrication Plus, the vented cutterbar design means less heat build-up, a big reliability advantage

Brawn to go with the brains.
The low-profile design cuts closer and at a flatter angle And the cutterbar is made from high-strength nodular iron, making it stronger and more impact-resistant than grey iron This cutterbar has the strength to resist anything the field throws at it.

Smart choices in conditioning.
Get the conditioning you want with exclusive urethane roll or thorough impeller conditioning (steel rolls also available on 946 and 956 models) Your hay quality – and productivity – will soar

John Deere has been making rotary MoCos for more than 20 years. The 6 Series MoCos are built with the same legendary quality and reliability found in all John Deere machines. So stop by your local John Deere dealership today and learn more about the smarter way to cut and condition hay. The genius in you will appreciate it.

Dairy Profitability Program Set For Clarion County

SHIPPENVILLE (Clarion Co.) — Clarion County Cooperative Extension in Shippenville will offer a program on "Ways to Improve Dairy Profitability" scheduled for Jan. 30 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Nickleville Church in Nickleville. The three-part program will focus on corn silage, a new insurance program, and strategies for feeding dairy cattle.

The corn silage program will focus on the effect of raising the cutting height of corn silage on a dairy cow's diet. It increases silage quality and digestibility, but will also reduce harvest yields. The discussion will center on yield and quality changes when corn silage cutting height is increased and the milk yield response of dairy cows to the cutting height of silage corn while looking at the economics and management benefits of increasing the cutting height. Greg Roth and Zhiguo Wu of Penn State University will lead the discussion on the effects of the changing the cutting height of corn silage. They will provide research information gained and updated with new research information from recent field trials in 2002.

The AGR-Lite Insurance program discussion will be lead by Jayson Harper, of the agricultural economics and rural sociology department of Penn State. He will be discussing the new Adjusted Gross Revenue-Lite program in Pennsylvania and how it will affect Pennsylvania farmers. The new insurance program is a streamlined, whole-farm revenue protection package that can be used as stand alone coverage, or in addition to other individual crop policies.

The feeding strategies session will be covered by Phil Anderson, Anderson Dairy Management, and will focus on alternative feeding strategies in a low forage production year, and how to use the resources and forages you have available to your herd's best advantage. Anderson will discuss different working strategies using alternative feeds available in the area and how their use can affect production and the farm's bottom line.

The program cost is $5 per person. Reservations need to be made with the Clarion County Cooperative Extension by calling (814) 782-0033. Reservations are due by Monday, Jan. 27 at the extension office.

Directions to the Nickleville Church from Interstate 80: get off exit 45 and follow signs for Rt. 38 north. Proceed 7.8 miles on Rt. 38 until you see green sign for Nickleville on the right (just beyond Hepler's Meats). There is also a sign at the intersection for the church at the intersection. Turn right at those signs onto State Rt. 2011 (paved road), travel 100 yards, and follow the road around a left turn. Travel around 100 yards and go straight onto Valley Church Road (gravel road) and the church will be on the left. Meeting is in the brick education building.

From Rt. 322, between Kossuth and Van, turn south on Rt. 38. Travel 2.6 miles and there will be a green sign for Nickleville. Turn left onto State Rt. 2011. Travel 100 yards and turn left. Go straight onto Valley Church Road and the church will be on the left.

Schuylkill County Youth Shows Champion Lamb

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Kori Morgan of Pine Grove, Schuylkill County, walked away with the grand champion youth market lamb banner at the Farm Show Sunday.

Morgan's 134-pound Hampshire/Suffolk crossbred topped a show of about 250 market lambs, including a number of pure breeds, exhibited by youth from across the state.

Morgan, 17, is a junior at Blue Mountain High School and member of the Schuykill Stampede 4-H Livestock Club. She is the daughter of Kim and Craig Morgan, and has been exhibiting for nine years.

Becky Cowell of Greene County took the reserve championship with her 133-pound crossbred lamb, also of Suffolk and Hampshire bloodlines.

Cowell, 19, is a freshman at Waynesburg College, where she is majoring in biology. Her parents are Keith and Sharon Cowell.

Judge Ron Guenther of Ohio said that the top lambs represented "two of the better carcasses in the barn" as well as demonstrating a live conformation that was "true and correct."

Guenther commended all the youth lamb exhibitors and spoke about the quality of the animals he selected as class winners.

"The lambs I picked out here today are all lambs that are going to yield very nicely," he said.

The judge also made a call for continued improvement of the lamb industry, noting that lamb is increasingly being compared to other meats on the market.

"We all need to assume more responsibility for our product," he said. Well-muscled lamb that tastes good has to be top priority.

Following are the placings for purebred and crossbred classes:

Joining Becky Cowell and her reserve champion lamb are Sam Hayes and Pennsylvania lamb and wool royalty, from left, Amber Shollenberger, Sarah Regula, and Cassie Marsh.

Apple, Pear Winners Named

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania growers exhibited a variety of apples and pears at this year's Fruit Competition at the 87th Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Billy Brent's Orchard, Fairfield, Adams County, submitted this year's winning entry, given the overall Best of Show award.

Judge Jerome Frecon noted that, when considering the quality of an apple entry, the sample must be "true to name, be within size, and uniform in size, appearance, and color." One must also "watch out for blemishes caused by things like insect, disease, and cold weather damage."

Apple growers this year in Pennsylvania faced many obstacles in producing quality fruit for their consumers. Frecon said that early frost in the spring and drought in the summer "made it a hard growing season," but assured fruit lovers they can still find good apples in the marketplace.

Lawrence Yager of Gettysburg, Adams County, was also a judge for the show.

Winners are as follows:

Best bushel of apples: Billy Brent's Orchard.
Best consumer package, 16-24 Lbs.: Strites Orchard.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The former Small Arena — now designated as the Sale Arena — again hosted the annual Sale of Champions at the Farm Show complex Tuesday.

The event followed what some believe to be record attendence over the weekend.

The record belonged to the market goat show this year. Zac Ocker, 15, in his fifth year showing market goats at the Farm Show, exhibited the grand champion market goat, a crossbred Boer. Zac received $2,200 — doubling the previous record of $1,100 — from New Holland Sales Stables.

The grand champion market swine. A crossbred animal, the hog was exhibited by Jacob Wheeler, Somerset, and purchased by Hatfield Quality Meats and Giant Foods for $2,200.

Kori Morgan, 17, Pine Grove, showed the grand champion market lamb. Pioneer Pole Buildings purchased the lamb for $3,000.

Nate Tice's grand champion market steer, a crossbred, brought $20,000 for Nate, a senior at Northern Lebanon High School. Hoss's Steak and Sea House purchased the steer.

Valerie Svonavec, 9, Rockwood, showed the reserve champion market swine, also a crossbred. She received $2,100 for her hog from Fulton Bank and Kessler's, Inc.

The reserve champion market lamb in the junior show was a crossbred animal exhibited by Becky Cowell, Waynesburg, a freshman majoring in biology at Waynesburg College. Old Guard Insurance, Lititz, purchased the lamb for $1,500.

The reserve champion market steer was shown by third-year Farm Show exhibitor Ryan Claycomb, 11, Osterburg. Taylor Excel, Wyalusing, purchased the Shorthorn steer for $2,700.

Matt Riebling, 16, Hanover, in his first Farm Show appearance as an exhibitor, showed the reserve champion market goat. New Holland Sales Stables purchased the goat for $1,150.

Also auctioned off was a limited edition tractor — numbered one of 1,200 — sold to benefit the FFA Foundation. Bill Campbell, CEO of Hoss's Steak and Sea House, purchased the item.

"Although facilities are important, it is not just about brick and mortar. In addition to building for the future with physical infrastructure, we are also building for the future when we support our 4-H and FFA members," said Sam Hayes, agriculture secretary.

In another show of support for youth, also at the sale twenty-four Pennsylvania scholars were honored Tuesday when the Pennsylvania Farm Show Scholarship Foundation announced the winners of its tenth annual scholarship contest at the 2003 Farm Show Junior Livestock Sale of Champions.

The scholarship committee awarded $2,000 scholarships to 24 Pennsylvania youth who are pursuing post-secondary education. Winners were selected based on scholastic achievements, 4-H or FFA involvement, school activities, and a history of involvement in the livestock events at the Farm Show.

Agro 2003, Opening Ceremonies Highlight New, Improved Farm Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "Wait until you see it," Gov. Mark Schweiker told more than 1,200 gathered in the large banquet room late last week at the Harrisburg Hilton and Towers. "We're going to show you a building that will give you the same feelings you had in your belly when you were a little boy."

Late last week, Schweiker referred to the more than $86 million spent on the major new Farm Show Complex additions and renovations during the Pennsylvania Farm Show Agro 2003 International Celebration. This was a day before the Grand Opening of the 2003 Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Schweiker also reminded more than 200 international agri-industry guests from 76 countries that the Farm Show provides a real showcase of the "might of Pennsylvania farming, agribusiness, and farm families."

Agro 2003 is the annual kick-off event for the eight-day long new and expanded Farm Show. The Farm Show is not only about the business of farming, Schweiker noted, but shows the "grit and determination to till the soil and grow the enterprise," he said. The farm life "is more than a paycheck and a means to a living — it is an honorable way of life."

Schweiker capped the two-day event with an introduction to Farm Show visitors in the Large Arena on opening day last Saturday.

But the evening before the Farm Show officially opened, Agro 2003 honored businesses and related agri-industry throughout the state, in addition to international agribusiness.

Schweiker recounted his experiences in dealing with rural Pennsylvania during the Quecreek Mine Disaster last August, when "nine for nine" miners were rescued after a cave-in, and what that taught him.

The advantage, he told those at Agro 2003, was the "built-in value system" of rural Pennsylvania. Schweiker said, "Some countries don't know that value system. . . . but they know it's fruitful, they know it pays off. It's part of our collective energy, part of our collective psyche."

No country can outdo that determination and personal spirit, no one can "outdo the Pennsylvania farmer," he told the visitors. With eyes brimming with tears, Schweiker recounted eight years with the current administration (assuming the leadership role as former Gov. Tom Ridge was announced as President George Bush's appointment to head the Champions supplied the initial scholarship money. A portion of the proceeds from each year's sale is donated to the fund. The non-profit Farm Show Scholarship Foundation oversees the fund, administering contributions and distributing scholarships.

Including this year, $235,500 have been awarded to 154 individuals. In addition to handling the scholarship program, the scholarship foundation has created an Ambassadors Club, a non-profit, tax-exempt organization designed to increase scholarship funds for rural youth.

This year's Farm Show scholarship recipients are the following:

• Beth Baer, the daughter of Brian and Ruth Baer, hails from Glenville in York County. She is currently a freshman at York College, majoring in Business Marketing. Beth was a member of the York County Beef Club, where she served as president, vice president, and treasurer. Beth has been selected as both the Outstanding Senior 4-H Member and the 2002 York Fair Outstanding 4-H Member. She has shown heifers and steers at the Farm Show in the past.

She is especially interested in promoting agriculture, saying, "I've always enjoyed sharing my knowledge about the farm with others, whether in the classroom, exhibiting at our local York County Fair, or the Pennsylvania Farm Show."

• Ellen Brammer, the daughter of Michael and Penny Brammer, was the 2001-2002 Pennsylvania FFA South-Central Regional Vice President. She is a 2001 graduate of Cumberland Valley High School, Cumberland County. She has exhibited market lambs and swine at the Farm Show for the past four years.

Sherisa attends Penn State University. Sherisa's future plans include giving back to the FFA program, as she hopes to become an agriculture teacher upon graduation. She says, "the educational and developmental values that the FFA have bestowed upon me are indescribable in words. Through the FFA, I have learned how to speak in public, parliamentary procedure, how to lead and effectively participate in group discussions, responsibility and the role you play on a team, and also the positive and negative aspects of many different types of leadership."

• Ashley Brothers is a 2001 graduate of Connellsville Area Senior High School, Fayette County. The daughter of Wayne and Louise Brothers, she was active in 4-H and serves as the president of both the swine and garden clubs and as a member of the livestock judging team.

She attends the California University of Pennsylvania, where she is in the honors program majoring in Secondary Education with a specialty in Math. Ashley has shown market swine at the Farm Show since 1996.

According to Ashley, in the future she plans to use her teaching position to increase student awareness of agriculture. She says, "I plan on using my public speaking ability to inform parents and children by giving demonstrations about the possibilities of 4-H."

• Keri Connelly, Pennsylvania Furnace, is the daughter of Ronald and Denise Connelly. Keri attends Penn State, where she majors in Animal Science.

While in 4-H she held many offices in both the Centre Hall Ag Club and the Mount Nittany Dairy Club. Keri has exhibited swine projects at the Farm Show since 1995 and captured grand champion market hog honors in 1998.

Keri says, "I would not be where I am today had it not been for what I learned during my days of raising and exhibiting animals through 4-H. As I plan the future that is ahead of me, I look to the lessons that I have learned in the past and use them to direct my future."

• Timothy Crouse, son of Brenda and the late Bryan Crouse, is a 2002 graduate of Lititz Christian School. He is a freshman at Penn State University, majoring in Animal Sciences. At Penn State, Tim is involved in the Dairy Science Club and Penn State Navigators. Upon graduation, he hopes to become a dairy herd manager.

Tim was a member of the Lebanon County Swine and Beef clubs and the recipient of the 2002 Lebanon County 4-H Foundation Scholarship. He is an 8-year exhibiter market swine at the Farm Show.

"My involvement in 4-H has played a very vital role in my personal development and has also played a significant role in helping me decide my career direction after high school," he said.

• Justin Cunfer, son of Dennis and Deanna Cunfer, has shown market swine at the Farm Show for the past five years, capturing champion honors in the Landrace breed for the past two years.

He graduated from Lehighton Area High School in 2002. Justin was a member of the Carbon County 4-H Livestock Club, serving as president and vice president for a total of seven years. He is a freshman at Penn State, where he majors in Animal Science with a future goal of becoming a large animal veterinarian. Justin also attended the 2001 Governor's School for Agriculture Sciences.

Justin says, "through my involvement in 4-H, I have gained the ability and responsibility to feel confident in the show ring, preside at meetings, and talk in front of crowds."

• Clinton Ferringer, from Home, Indiana County, is the son of Robert and Sandra Ferringer. He is a 2002 graduate of Marion Center High School. He attends the Punxsutawney campus of the Indiana University of Pennsylvania, majoring in Health and Physical Education, with the goal of someday becoming a teacher and FFA advisor.

Clint has been active in both 4-H and FFA in leadership and with several projects. He has shown market swine at the Farm Show for three years. Clint will receive his Keystone Farmer degree at the 2003 Farm Show. "I believe I am a more mature, sensible, responsible, and well-rounded person because of my involvement with 4-H and FFA.

"Undoubtedly, livestock exhibition is the best experience I

Agro 2003, Opening Ceremonies Highlight New, Improved Farm Show

U.S. Department of Homeland Security). Schweiker told Farm Show visitors that "you'll see that tomorrow, in glorious passion like few states can muster."

Schweiker said the Farm Show is "absolutely special and large and I'm proud to offer that reflection." He witnessed Pennsylvania's number one industry "for the last eight years, and it is unforgettable."

And on Saturday, Schweiker recounted what he said the previous evening. He said he watched Agro 2003 grow from a few hundred attendees to more than 1,200 guests the Friday evening.

State Ag Secretary Sam Hayes recounted Schweiker's administration, which is succeeded by the new administration under Gov.-Elect Ed Rendell, as a successful one. Schweiker served in an "honorable, statesmanlike way through some very, very difficult months," noted Hayes. And the state ag secretary told the thousands assembled the next day in the Large Arena that the opening ceremonies and speech was Schweiker's last public appearance as Pennsylvania governor.

Hayes received two standing ovations and at least "three huzzahs," salutes of honor, from the crowd, assisted by character-portrayed guest speaker Ben Franklin, at Agro 2003.

During ceremonies late last week, Hayes announced the winners of this year's Agribusiness Achievement awards. The following Pennsylvania companies were selected for this prestigious award: First Union National Bank, $50 million and more sales category; Turner Dairy Farms, Inc., $16 million to $50 million sales category; and Oak Hill Veneer, Inc., less than $16 million sales category.

"Agribusiness Achievement Awards are presented to Pennsylvania agriculture, food, and wood-products companies that have made a special contribution toward the development and expansion of Pennsylvania agriculture, as well as a positive commitment to their local community," Hayes said. "These awards recognize companies that contribute to Pennsylvania's No. 1 industry."

All companies competing for this award must meet Department of Agriculture standards and qualifications.

First Union National Bank is a full-service financial services company. There are 350 branch locations in Pennsylvania. The First Union Agri-Finance segment is composed of a 17-member staff located in three offices in southeastern Pennsylvania, but is supported by many other bank associates in various disciplines. Loan financing and other banking services have been provided to farmers and agribusinesses since 1977, when a one-person Agri-Finance Department was founded in Lancaster County with predecessor National Central Bank.

Many products and programs have been developed to specifically target the agricultural community such as term loans, lines of credit, construction loans, equipment leasing, and cash management services. Agricultural lending services are also associated with the USDA Farm Services Agency (FSA) program to further fit farmer and agribusiness needs. First Union is now the leading commercial bank lending to agriculture in Pennsylvania, ranking first in the northeast and sixth in the nation.

Medium category winner, Turner Dairy Farms, Inc., operates their Penn Hills-based company under the mission statement: "Perfect Products, Perfect Service, and Treating People Right." The Turner family has owned and operated their farm since 1930 and have built long-term business partnerships in a wide range of markets: schools, hospitals, nursing homes, supermarkets, convenience stores, and colleges. Excellent customer service and continuous leadership in the agricultural community made Turner Dairy Farms, Inc. a prime candidate for the Agribusiness Award.

Small category winner Oak Hill Veneer, Inc., is a leader in the veneer and plywood industry and has been recognized by the Hardwood, Plywood and Veneer Association (HPVA) for promoting the long-term growth of the industry. Located in Troy, Oak Hill Veneer, Inc., supplies kitchen cabinet, flooring, door and furniture companies throughout the nation with various types of veneer. President Lee Cummings has worked closely with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and is an active member of the Pennsylvania Hardwoods Development Council. He and his company have exhibited their products at the Agro Trade Show and also participate in international trade missions.

During the awards banquet, Hayes awarded the 2003 Farm-City honors to the Blair County Chamber of Commerce, Franklin County Farm-City Council, and Fulton County Farm-City Council.

"Farm-City Programs provide a wonderful opportunity of learning for those in the towns and in the townships," said Hayes. "I want to commend Blair, Franklin, and Fulton counties for the hard work and creative educational programs they sponsor in their counties. All Farm-City councils throughout the state are to be commended for their dedication in bridging the gap between rural and urban neighbors. Pennsylvania's Farm-City programs help create a better quality of life for all citizens in the towns and townships."

The Blair County Chamber of Commerce continues to host several highly visible Farm-City events, generating media coverage by local newspapers and TV stations. Continuing an 18-year tradition, "Business After Hours 'Down on the Farm'" brought the business and agriculture community together for a night of socializing at a local farm and to enjoy an old-fashioned pig roast.

To reach out to the younger generations, the Blair County Chamber of Commerce joined forces with the Williamsburg FFA Chapter to organize an "Ag In the Classroom" program, which brought the farm to the school where children were able to experience agriculture up close. Other successful events included a "Visit to Industry" tour for the local farm community, job exchange, and the annual Farm-City Dinner.

The Fulton County Farm-City Council has completed yet another successful year, hosting at least one event a month in 2002. Several new activities were added to Fulton County's Farm-City Program such as a water resources forum, which address water issues such as the 2002 drought situation; a forestry seminar; Project Grass Field Day, which talked about farm conservation practices; and a farm safety expo. Fulton County has also continued to raise awareness of agriculture in the classroom with a mini-awareness class for sixth grade students on environmental issues, a youth ag expo, Farm-City tours, and a Farm-City poster contest. Through their efforts, thousands of people have been contacted.

To round out this year's Farm-City Award Winners is the Farm-City council from Franklin County. The Franklin County Farm-City Council has successfully reached out to both its rural and town communities by hosting 15 events in 2002. Several events received media coverage from the local radio and television stations. A business expo was hosted at Wilson College to give insight to Franklin County's businesses and agribusinesses.

The Franklin Fall Farm Fun Fest (a farm tour), Agricultural Weekend at the Chambersburg Mall, an apple festival, and the Farm-City Week Speaker's Bureau provided excellent opportunities for town neighbors to enjoy the heritage of their rural counterparts.

The Farm-City Award recipients were selected by the Pennsylvania Farm-City Council, which consisted of a panel of judges from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the USDA.

Agro 2003 — Pennsylvania's international agriculture showcase and trade show — was conducted Thursday, Jan. 9 to Monday, Jan. 13.

"Pennsylvania agriculture offers a diverse array of products that are ready for export to the marketplaces around the globe," Hayes said. "We are truly producing 'Products for the Planet,' and Agro 2003 helps us showcase Pennsylvania's agriculture to the world."

More than 200 guests from 76 countries were present. More than 130 agribusiness companies participated in the Agro Trade Show and other business meetings.

"Export-ready" companies from all sectors of Pennsylvania agriculture — including foods, hardwoods, machinery, genetics, service, and agritechnology — were represented at the trade show.

"For the remainder of Agro 2003, international guests were paired with representatives of Pennsylvania agriculture for more than a thousand customized business meetings," Hayes said. "It's important to build relationships of mutual benefit to Pennsylvania agriculture and our friends from around the globe."

Pennsylvania agriculture is Pennsylvania's leading industry, generating $45 billion cash receipts in 2001. Pennsylvania agriculture exports totaled more than $1 billion in 2001.

Gov. Mark Schweiker spoke at opening ceremonies for this year's Farm Show in the Large Arena.

Demos, 'Equipment Tryouts' Tops To Farm Show Visitors

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — From throughout the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic, thousands of visitors to the Farm Show Complex this year had several things in mind. Check out the equipment. Kick the tires. Climb up into the seat. Just imagine taking these things for a ride.

For many visitors, to see the actual equipment at work was a big thrill during Farmer Days Monday through Wednesday this week at the new and renovated Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

And many farmers arrived to experience Farmer Days firsthand.

Farmer Days began Monday morning and lasted through Wednesday afternoon. Farmers turned out by the thousands to see live demonstrations of major farm machinery in the dirt on the floor of the Large Arena and attend seminars in the two seminar rooms near the Banquet Hall on the upper level.

Included in the demonstrations:

Rendell Picks Columbia County Dairyman As New Ag Secretary

Rendell made the announcement Thursday morning in the dairy barn at the Farm Show Complex. He also named a new secretary to the Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources and renominated the incumbent secretary of corrections.

Wolff is a third-generation family member on the 700-acre Millville farm where he manages about 500 Holsteins, including a 100-cow milking herd. He specializes in purebred Holstein genetics, and exports embryos and cattle to various countries around the world.

Wolff serves on the World Trade Organization's agricultural technical committee, which provides input on WTO agricultural policies. He also served from 1997 to 2001 on the Pennsylvania Farm Service Agency Committee.

"I like a challenge, and this will be one," Wolff said of his new appointment as ag secretary. "I think I have a good understanding of the needs of farmers in Pennsylvania."

Wolff will be taking over the position held by outgoing ag secretary Sam Hayes.

Rendell said he chose Wolff because he is a professional farmer who is also experienced in the state, national, and world ag community.

Governor-elect Ed Rendell introduces Dennis Wolff, left, as the new Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture Thursday morning at the Farm Show.

"Dennis will be a good manager who will help to accomplish the three-fold mission of preserving Pennsylvania farmland, increasing profitability for farmers, and helping farmers export their products," he said.

The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (PFB) supported Wolff's appointment.

"Dennis Wolff is an outstanding choice," said Guy Donaldson, PFB president. "We're pleased that Governor-elect Rendell recruited a person with strong leadership, diverse experience, and notable achievement in production agriculture."

Dennis Wolff is not related to Boyd Wolff, who served as ag secretary under the Casey administration.

Michael DiBerardinis, former Philadelphia Recreation Commissioner, was Rendell's choice for the new secretary of the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources. As secretary of the DCNR, DiBerardinis's responsibilities will include maintaining 116 state parks, managing 2.1 million acres of state forest, and establishing community conservation partnerships.

Rendell Thursday morning also renominated Dr. Jeffery Beard to the post of secretary of corrections.

Somerset County Youth Win Swine Show Banners

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Jake Wheeler of Somerset was surprised when his 262-pound crossbred was named youth grand champion hog Monday at the Farm Show.

"I didn't expect it," he said. "I'm very pleased and excited."

Wheeler, 15, has been showing hogs for two years. At last year's Farm Show, he exhibited a Duroc that placed second in its class. That's a notable honor, but nothing quite like taking home the banner for the top pig in the show.

Wheeler is a sophomore at Somerset Area High School and a member of the High Ridge 4-H Club. He is the son of Paul and Stacy Wheeler.

His champion hog was a Yorkshire/Pietrain cross.

Valerie Svonavec of Rockwood, Somerset County, exhibited the overall reserve champion, also a crossbred hog. Valerie's parents are Vince and Donna Svonavec.

Jim McCoy of Ohio judged eight pure breeds of market swine as well as a large show of crossbreds. He complimented the

Mifflinburg Buggy Museum

Before the automobile became "king of the road," Pennsylvania ranked number two in producing horse-drawn vehicles One town in the state made its reputation and fortune in manufacturing fine quality carriages, wagons and sleighs. Today the town of Mifflinburg boasts a truly rare survival, the William A. Heiss Coachworks Through the visionary talents of volunteers, the Buggy Museum consists of the Heiss Coachworks, Repository, family home, and, as of May 2001 the Charles McCool Snyder Education and Visitors Center The Mifflinburg Buggy Museum is one of only twelve craft/industrial museums in the country with an original collection on its original site, and is believed to be the only carriage factory.

In 1872, Catherine Heiss, unable to maintain the family farm after the death of her husband, bought a modest home on Green Street for herself, daughter Lizzie and son William. This two story, frame structure with its German siding was the family home until 1946 As William grew older he apprenticed with a buggy maker, opened his own shop in 1883 and married Anna Smith. Expanding his business in 1889, William purchased a larger "factory" in which he produced fine quality horse drawn vehicles until 1920 To display his vehicles, William had a Repository (showroom) built in 1895

After William's death in 1931 and Anna's death in 1946, the oldest Heiss son, Norman closed the factory and repository using them only for storage The house was rented for a few years, then it too was closed to await the passage of time

Wanting to celebrate the fullness of Mifflinburg's coach making heritage, a group of citizens approached Norman Heiss and his sons Owen and Glen. At 90 years of age, Norman remembered well the buggy factories of Mifflinburg including his own father's. Opening the doors of the Coachworks and Repository in 1978 was an unforgettable experience for volunteers. Behind the closed doors lay forty years of buggy making history William's tools, hit and miss engine, horseshoes, tires, wheels, dashboards, upholstered seats, paints, catalogs for parts and his own account books There were finished vehicles in ruins and vehicles barely begun, there were bee hives and honey can labels, farm tools and more The house too retained much of its original furnishings, including Catherine Heiss' rope bed

This is what visitors see today! A self-guided tour of the Visitor's Center explains buggy making and Mifflinburg as "Buggy Town" and introduces the family Guided tours of the home, factory and showroom let visitors experience life in Buggy Town through the lives of the Heiss family

Your visit will begin with an orientation video and exhibition in the Education and Visitors Center, which includes the hands-on workbench Your visit continues with a guided tour of the Heiss Coachworks, in operation from 1889 to1920, the Repository (showroom) built in 1895 and now housing a collection of horse-drawn vehicles; an 1870 house, which served as the Heiss family home from 1872 to 1946, and a reconstructed Carriage House

Admission Adults $6 per person, Children (ages 7-17) $3 Group rate (20 people or more) Adults $5, Children $2. It is recommended that groups allow 1 5 to 2 hours for a tour Walk-in visitors (families, single people) should allow 1 5 hours

Tice's Crossbred Takes Market Beef Show

MICHELLE KUNJAPPU
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — After months of washing, drying, walking, feeding, watching, and just taking care of "Bulldog," Nate Tice's hard work paid off when the Crossbred steer got the winning slap from judge Scott Greiner at Monday afternoon's junior market beef show.

For the first six months that he owned the steer, Nate washed, dried, and walked the animal every other day, a regimen that increased to every day in the past six months.

Nate, a 4-H and FFA member who has been showing for 10 years, and exhibiting cattle for five years, purchased the 1,325-pound steer from an Indiana farm. He is the son of Tom and Deb Tice, Lebanon, and is a senior at Northern Lebanon High School.

Funds from the $10,000 sale of Bulldog will either go to college (Nate is deciding on next years plans — being on a collegiate judging team may be part of his future) or toward "buying another steer — or maybe a heifer," said Nate.

Nate also showed a hog during Monday mornings competition. Nate, from a 30-acre farm at home, has 15 cows.

Taking home the reserve champion spot was a Shorthorn steer, "Fred," exhibited by Ryan Claycomb, 11, Bedford County, from Claycomb Farms.

Coming out of the Shorthorn lightweight class, the steer weighed 1,275 pounds and was purchased from a farm in Ohio last March, according to Ryan.

This is Ryan's third year showing cattle at the Farm Show. He is the son of Scott and Tina Claycomb.

Last year Ryan's brother, Justin, also took home reserve champion placing in the junior market beef show.

For the Shorthorn's high placing, the Pennsylvania Shorthorn Association awarded Ryan $300. The association pays $1,000 in extra premiums to winners of Shorthorn classes at the Farm Show.

Nate Tice, Lebanon, and 1,325-pound Bulldog topped 74 steers to take home grand champion honors from Mondays junior market beef show.

Ryan Claycomb, Osterburg, and Shorthorn "Fred" took home reserve champion placing.

"There has been a lot of good cattle through the ring," said judge Greiner. "I have tried to focus on things that, in my estimation, are important to the industry."

Greiner picked out "cattle that meet the needs of the consumer, with rib meat and cutability — but also cattle good for us as producers, with body, dimension, and natural style. They should be well proportioned, well balanced, and put together very well."

The cattle in the championship drive "are practical, fault-free cattle," according to Greiner.

Seventy four steers in the Angus, Limousin, Hereford, Shorthorn, Simmental, and Crossbreds divisions competed for the grand and reserve champion spots.

Scott Greiner, Blacksburg, Virginia, extension beef specialist at Virginia Tech, judged the show. Greiner, a native of Iowa, has been in Virginia for four years and has judged in major shows in more than 30 states.

Also during the market beef show Willard LeMaster, 4-H animal science extension specialist, Maryland, and David Gordon, student at Towson University with an associate degree in agriculture from Butler County Community College, Kansas, were the showmanship judges.

LAST WEEK	2550	1728
LAST YEAR	2415	1620

Compared to last week, slaughter steers sold fully 1 00 higher to open the trading period, only to trend fully 50-1 00 lower to close it out The quality of the supply this week fluctuated more than usual, and with the various finish came mixed buyer activity It was pretty simple though, if they had the right finish and they were the right weight, they went in the 80 00 pen The Western direct feed yards moved the bulk of their steers at mostly 80 00 this week, which is 2.00 higher than the previous trading period Luckily, the Western feeders were able to get it done before news broke that several vials of bubonic plague were missing from a college lab This news caused the Board to crash on Wednesday, with near limit down losses in all livestock pits However, even a plague scare cannot slow the red meat train down as boxed beef cutout values continue to sky rocket, with gains from 6 00 to over 7 00 this week Holstein steers sold with a firmer undertone this week, although the supply remains light Well-finished Holsteins are trading in the 64 00-67 00 range, which keeps improving each week Slaughter heifer runs were tight as well, with firmer undertones noted throughout the week Slaughter cows sold mostly steady to 1 00 lower There was no outstanding news this week that greatly affected the cow market Cow carcass cutout values gained less than 50 for the week, and had little effect on the market Buyer attendance was good this week, and the supply continues to be heavy as over 1100 cows went through the Lancaster county sale barns Slaughter bulls sold mostly steady to 3 00 lower This week's reported supply included 27 percent steers, 6 percent heifers, 44 percent cows, 8 percent bulls, with the balance feeders

Organic Farming Conference Jan. 25

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. — Holistic farm management, transitioning to organic production, an introduction to organic farming practices, sustainable farmworker housing and more than a dozen other presentations will be featured at the annual Northeast Organic Farming Association of New Jersey Winter Conference, Jan. 25 here at the Cook Campus Center.

The daylong conference, "Greener Fields: Growing Value on the Farm," draws speakers and attendees from throughout the Mid-Atlantic. The conference, which emphasizes sustainable and organic approaches to production, will also address topics as varied as compost, crop rotation, culinary herbs, and conserving water on-farm.

This year features several presentations for farmers considering converting to organic practices and information for those who are new to production agriculture. In the morning, Olga Wickerhauser, the new NJAES sustainable agriculture coordinator, will cover "Fundamentals of Sustainable Organic Agriculture," and Phil Metzger, project coordinator for the Central New York Resource Conservation and Development board and a trainee in the Allan Savory Center's Holistic Management Certified Educator program will offer an "Introduction to Holistic Management," an integrated planning process that emphases organizing land-based enterprises to be profitable and environmentally and socially sound.

In the afternoon, Bob Muth, a second-generation South Jersey vegetable grower, will describe his firsthand experience transitioning a working farm to organic production.

More specialized sessions for those starting, expanding, or diversifying a farm enterprise include "The Profitable Small-Scale Dairy," by Ken and Julie Bechtold, cheesemakers at Stoney Croft Farm in northern New Jersey, and "Managing a Successful CSA," by Mike Baki of Genesis Biodynamic Farm near Blairstown.

Pesticide recertification credits will be available for many sessions.

To register for the conference, call the NOFA-NJ office at (609) 737-6848 or download a registration form at the NOFA-NJ Website, www.nofanj.org. NOFA-NJ is a 17-year-old membership-based nonprofit organization based in Pennington, N.J.

Six Counties Upgraded From Drought Watch To Normal Status

Seven Counties Remain In Drought Watch

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Department of Environmental Protection Secretary David E. Hess announced recently that six counties in southcentral and southeastern Pennsylvania have been upgraded from a drought watch to normal status after several weeks of beneficial rain and snow.

The six counties returned to normal status are Berks, Chester, Cumberland, Delaware, Lancaster and York.

Seven counties on the western edge of the state remain in drought watch, Secretary Hess said. They are Beaver, Crawford, Erie, Greene, Lawrence, Mercer and Washington.

"e have been in a real drought-buster of a weather pattern in southcentral and southeastern Pennsylvania for about the past eight weeks or so," Secretary Hess said.

"The snow we received in late November, December and January has been especially helpful because the slow melting of snow is excellent for recharging groundwater. The weather so far this winter, when it comes to precipitation, is just about the opposite of last year when the winter months were so dry."

Gov. Schweiker first declared a drought emergency for 24 counties in southcentral and southeastern Pennsylvania on Feb. 12, 2002.

Of the state's 67 counties, only a dozen escaped being in a drought emergency, drought warning or drought watch at some point after Feb. 12 of last year.

Penn State Cooperative Extension Capitol Region Dairy Team

MANAGING HISPANIC WORKERS
Vinton E. Smith
Dairy Management Agent
Capitol Region

Many farm business owners and managers have begun hiring Hispanic employees over the past several years. This has been a very viable solution to meeting the labor requirements of a dairy farm or other agricultural business. However, there are many challenges that become apparent when the first Hispanic workers come to your farm.

The language barrier is often the first challenge that farm owners and managers recognize. Many Hispanic workers have limited English-speaking skills and few managers are fluent in Spanish. This issue first becomes obvious during an interview and continues to present a challenge as you train, manage, evaluate, reward, and lead your employees.

Two approaches to minimizing the language barrier problem are 1) the Hispanic employee learns English or 2) the dairy manager learns Spanish. I believe the best approach is actually a combination of these two options. In fact, once a manager has a very basic understanding of Spanish, he or she will learn that talking with their Hispanic workers in Spanish will build both of their language skills.

The employees will feel honored that you are trying to learn their language and will be more interested in trying to learn English. Together with your newly learned Spanish and the workers' newly learned English, you will learn how to effectively communicate with each other.

The second major challenge managers often face is understanding the Hispanic employees' cultural background. Growing up in Mexico, Guatemala, the Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico, or any of several other countries, Hispanic employees often have different perspectives and a different approach to the employee/boss relationship. Understanding these differences is the first step toward meeting the next challenge of developing a workplace that welcomes and appreciates these differences by all employees and family members on the farm.

Finally, learning strategies to improve your employee management skills is extremely important. This includes developing a thorough training program that assures all employees are properly trained and equipped to do their job. It also consists of an improved employee evaluation and reward system that motivates all employees to do the work correctly. Basically, it means that you become a good supervisor and team leader for your employees.

You will determine your success at hiring Hispanic employees! Simply ask yourself these questions:

- "Are you committed to improving communication by learning Spanish?"
- "Are you committed to learning about the background and culture of the Hispanic employees on your farm?"
- "Are you committed providing leadership of a multicultural team of employees?"

If you answered yes, you are well on your way to success.

There are two upcoming opportunities that will help you enhance your employee management skills and improve your ability to successfully hire and employee Hispanic workers. First, Penn State and Cornell universities are coordinating the "Managing the Hispanic Workforce Conference." It will be conducted at the Holiday Inn in Grantville Jan. 28-29 and again at the Canandaigua Inn in Canandaigua, N.Y. Jan. 30-31.

For more information, visit the conference Website at http://www.ansci.cornell.edu/prodairy/ and click on the conference title or contact Robin Huizinga at dmconf@cornell.edu, (607) 255-4478.

The second opportunity consists of the "Spanish for Dairymen" courses that are scheduled to begin Thursday, Feb. 6 and continue meeting every Thursday for 12 weeks. The "Beginner Course" will be conducted at the Cumberland County Extension office in Carlisle from 1:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. The "Intermediate Course" will be conducted at the Farm Credit office in Chambersburg from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

For more information, contact Vinton Smith at vsmith@psu.edu or (888) 472-0261, ext. 312.

Dairy Farmer Workshops Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Capitol Region Dairy Team is presenting several workshops on the theme "Family Dairy Farms...How Successful Can You Be?"

Nearly all of Lancaster County's dairy farms are family owned and operated. This PSU extension program will focus on providing information and resources on financial tools and benchmarks that can help you and your family take greater control of your dairy farm's future.

Presenters will include: Dr. Charles Gardner from Agway; Jeff Mamett from Pharmacia; and Roland Freund, Beth Grove, and Vinton Smith from PSU Extension.

The topics will include:

- Using dairy business analysis and goal-setting for making informed decisions about your dairy operation.
- Planning for the next generation on the dairy farm.
- Managing and using available resources to improve profits.

These workshops will be conducted at the following locations: Tuesday, Jan. 21, Lighthouse Restaurant, Chambersburg (Franklin County); Wed., Jan. 22, Gratz Firehall (Dauphin County); Thursday, Jan. 23, Lancaster DHIA Lab, Manheim (Lancaster County); and Friday, Jan. 24, Fulton Grange Hall (Southern Lancaster County).

Each of the workshops will be conducted from 10 a.m.-2:30 p.m. The registration fee is only $6 per person, which will help cover the cost of lunch and materials. For more information or to register for one of these workshops, call (717) 394-6851. All dairy producers and agribusiness persons are welcome.

MAKE MILK WITH LESS GRAIN

High Energy Grass Balage

Improves Your Herd's Health!

High grain diets can be hard on your herd's health. High energy balage (and pasture) makes milk with less cow stress.

These high sugar varieties are new releases that we are very excited about. Harvest in pre-boot stage and expect Nels in the 0.70 to 0.76 range with excellent protein too. They look great in both our test plots and University plots!

TIVOLI Tetraploid Perennial Ryegrass

After 2.5 years in our test plots, Tivoli is the best overall ryegrass variety. Tivoli had twice as much sugar compared to most other varieties, very high yields and the least aftermath heading (summer headiness). In the 2001 Cornell Univ. Trial the 2002 Tivoli yield was 5.67 tons of dry matter. Highest yielding perennial ryegrass in trial. Very late heading date (June 12 at Cornell).

Our varieties look like ryegrass. Both varieties establish very quickly giving excellent yields.

PERUN

A 3-year ryegrass type. In the 2000 Michigan State Univ. Trial, after two years of data (2001-02) Perun dry matter yield was 14.2 tons, the highest in the entire grass trial. Trial mean 11.10 tons. In the 2001 Cornell Univ. Trial, the 2002 yield was 6.85 tons of dry matter. Trial average 5.29 tons (entered with ryegrasses including Tivoli). Great for short term rotations and pasture repair.

LOFA

A 5-year ryegrass type. In the 2001 Michigan State Univ. Trial, the 2002 dry matter yield was 6.99 tons - the highest in entire grass trial. Trial mean 4.86 tons.

Amber Shollenberger Reigns As State Lamb, Wool Queen

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family
Features Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Opening day of the Pennsylvania Farm Show was filled with lots of competitions. One of the contests was the quest for the position of Pennsylvania Lamb and Wool Queen.

From five contestants presenting speeches, displays, and personal interviews with three judges from the industry, Amber Sollenberger was crowned queen during the evening banquet conducted in the Farm Show Complex.

Although only 16 years old, Amber is well prepared for her responsibility as the official spokesperson for the Pennsylvania Sheep and Wool Growers Association, as well as the entire sheep and wool industry of Pennsylvania.

Poised, confident, and enthusiastic, Amber has been involved in raising Cheviots on the family's acreage and has been active in the 4-H Sheep and Lamb Club for eight years. Her older sister, Ashley, was the state queen in 1999.

"I helped her and learned a lot," Amber said of assisting her sister with promotional duties.

Her objective is to increase awareness and appreciation of the sheep and wool industry.

Amber also is a representative of the 4-H Development Board and the Berks County Community Foundation's Youth Advisory Committee and the United Way's Healthy Community/ Health Youth 40 Developmental Assets Initiative.

Because she is home schooled, Amber has developed motivational and self-starter skills. These skills will assist her in upcoming promotional duties. In addition to attending various trade shows, county fairs, and association meetings, Sollenberger will complete many store and mall promotions.

Amber is also an accomplished artistic dancer, who focuses on tap, jazz, hip-hop, and ballet.

After high school graduation, Amber is considering majoring in agriculture communications.

Along with Sollenberger, four other young women vied for the HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Sharon Kurtz, Emmaus, captured first place and $160 for her apple pie at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, but almost missed it.

Through a paperwork glitch, the wrong name was announced as winner. Curious to see who won out of 60 entries, Sharon pressed through the crowd to sneak a peek at the prizewinning pie.

"That's my pie," she exclaimed.

After the paperwork was corrected, Sharon told how she had prepared nine pie crusts before she got one that met her criteria. The recipe was one she perfected using a basic recipe from her mother.

"I added pecans and caramel to the filling, and the crust has apple cider vinegar in it," she said.

Her entry placed first at the Schnecksville Community Fair, which qualified her to compete at the state level. To be eligible, participants must place first at a local fair.

Second prize went to Janet Oberholtzer, Ephrata. Her pie had qualified at the Ephrata Fair.

Judges for the state event said

Best Chocolate Cakes Sweet, But Tough To Judge

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "It's tough judging. We have more outstanding cakes than we have ribbons," said one of the five judges for the Greatest Cocoa Cake Contest at the Pennsylvania Farm Show on opening day.

Sixty entries qualified for state competition out of 940 entries in local fairs.

In the final round, Kristi Cunningham's "My Grandmother's Hershey's Cocoa Cake" took first place. From Gardners, Adams County, Kristi was not present for the awards ceremony but will enjoy the prize — a two-night stay at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center.

Second place went to Brenda Moore, Mount Wolf, who qualified through the York County Dillsburg Fair.

It was the first win at state competition for Brenda, who had entered last year but did not

Wet-Bottom Shoofly Pie Captures $500 Prize

Debra Ann Gruber (right) won $500 for her Wet-Bottom Shoofly Pie. Although an accomplished baker, she had never made a shoofly pie until the week before the Farm Show competition. "I just about burned the house down making one after another," she said of perfecting her recipe in time for the competition. See story Page B7.

Orange-Pineapple Upside-Down Cake Impresses Judges

This pineapple upside-down cake garnered a blue ribbon and $500 for Belinda Myers, York (right). Baked in the shape of a pineapple with lots of pineapple and grated orange rind, the winning entry was topped with rolled fondant leaves. Belinda, who in previous years captured first place for her apple pie and chocolate cake, said that her goal was to win the Upside-Down Pineapple Cake contest. See story Page B7.

place. She said, "I was overwhelmed by all those beautiful cakes. So this year I changed my recipe a little, and took a cake decorating class. I put little 'mice' on top."

The mice were made from cherries dipped into chocolate with a candy kiss face and sliced almonds for ears.

Third place went to Cindi Bruce, who hours before placed fifth in the apple pie contest. Cindi also has the distinction of winning the state Cocoa Cake Contest two years ago. "It's like an art to me," she said. "I have a really good cake recipe that requires lots of cocoa and is moist but not oily. I use an Italian butter cream frosting — no confectioners' sugar."

Cindi added, "I came from a large family and learned to cook the old-fashioned way. I was given an Easy-Bake oven as a child, and have been baking ever since."

Kim Shaffer, DuBois, Sykesville Ag and Youth Fair, placed fourth, and Tami Smith, Ephrata, Denver Fair, placed fifth.

Here is the first-place winning recipe from Kristi Cunningham.

My Grandmother's Hershey's Cocoa Cake

3 cups flour
3 cups sugar
1 cup Hershey's cocoa
3 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons vinegar
3 teaspoons vanilla
15 tablespoons butter
3 cups water

Sift dry ingredients together. Punch three holes in mixture. Put three tablespoons vinegar in first hole. Put three teaspoons vanilla in second hole. Put 15 tablespoons melted butter in third hole. Add three cups water and mix. Cook at 350 degrees for 35 minutes. This will make three 9-inch round cake layers.

Chocolate Peanut Butter Frosting:

2 sticks Crisco
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 sticks butter-flavored Crisco
Pinch of salt
1½ pounds confectioners' sugar
1 pound chocolate confectioners' sugar
½ cup milk
2 cups creamy peanut butter
4 teaspoons Hershey's cocoa

Mix together the four sticks of Crisco. Mix in vanilla and salt. Then mix in the 1½ pounds confectioners' sugar. Mix in ½ cup of the milk. Mix in two cups peanut butter. Put about 1½ cups to the side. Then mix in the chocolate confectioners' sugar. Put about 1½ cups to the side and add 1 teaspoon Hershey's cocoa to this and mix together. Add the remaining Hershey's cocoa and milk to the bowl and cream together.

On Being a Farm Wife
(and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

We are a shifty bunch.

In a spare room upstairs stands a very large, plastic bag. This bag is stuffed so full that it stands by itself, layered with an assortment of blankets, comforters, afghans. None of them is new. Most of the layers, in fact, lean toward the scruffy side. Still, each possesses the promise of plenty of warmth potential despite worn edges and frayed corners.

These snuggly-warm covers are being shifted. They will move from taking up space in our upstairs, to taking up space in the rooms of our grandchildren, across the meadow and around the hill. The bag's contents, including at least a layer or two from among the stuff we removed from mom's house last year, will be the fodder of bunk bed tents and hide-and-seek coverlets, summer sleepout snugglies, and cushioning to sprawl on the living room floor to watch a video.

For our shifty family, the bagful of blankets can be more useful elsewhere than taking up space in our spare room. So, we are shifting them to the next generations.

Miscellaneous items shift back and forth between our houses until sometimes we lose track of what belongs to whom. Food storage containers, a result of sharing meals, leftovers and treats, have almost become so blurred that some of our kitchen cupboard contents appear to be cloned.

Pot roast leftovers shift out of our refrigerator and salads shift back to take up the spare room. Muffins and soups shift places in our menu plans. We've actually shifted brownies back and forth on at least one occasion, when we both made them on the same day with intent to share.

Sometimes the lids don't shift back and forth as efficiently, and we have to a stage a shifty lid shakeout session to rematch container bottoms to tops.

A log splitter camped out in a corner of our yard just shifted back home to their house. But a small lawn wagon shifted here last fall remains, waiting to be shifted back home, probably with some load that needs to be shifted back there.

Being shifty has its advantages. When they were absent a lawn mower, ours shifted across the meadow, trimming around the ponds in the process. After ours bit the dust temporarily in late summer, theirs shifted here, trimming around the ponds in the process. Obviously, pond landscaping is a beneficiary to the family mutual shiftiness.

Come garden season, their tiller will shift briefly to our garden, perhaps in the same trip when a pile of bark mulch from our stockpile shifts back for use around their shrubs and flower beds.

There's even an assortment of refrigerator magnets, everything from crocheted butterflies (which also shifted here from mom's house) to farm supply business magnetic business cards. The kids love to pick them off the refrigerator, plunk them in a little plastic bag and carry them home. After finding the assortment strewn all over non-magnetic places in their house, their mom promptly shifts them back.

Being shifty sounds a little suspicious, until you explain it to folks. Who often find that they, too, have pretty shifty families.

All in all, we figure that being shifty is at least more desirable than being shiftless.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

I've just been reading my mother's diary from the 1930s. During the month of January, most every day mentioned that one of her seven girls had a cold, sore throat or quinsy. And, the doctor came to our house rather than we going to his office.

In January my parents butchered a small sheep and they dressed 27 turkeys that they raised. The old Tom turkey weighted 28 pounds. A neighbor brought us some soap that they had made. My father went to a horse sale as we did not have tractors at that time. He and his hired man stripped tobacco during the winter. The eggs that they sold brought 19 cents per dozen.

My mother also noted that the previous fall they had someone paint the four houses that they owned. The painters were paid 45 cents per hour. And, the five-year diary that she was writing in cost her 14 cents — it was genuine leather. Prices certainly were different.

One of my sisters was 10 years old. She used crutches and walked to school using them. We lived more than one-half a mile from our two-room school. It had a furnace in the basement and a pump in an enclosed shed in the back of the school. One of my sisters took violin lessons at school.

We had a stray dog come to our house that we named Trixie. My father tried to lose the dog by having it follow our car. But, when we got home, the dog was sitting on the porch. So, they bought a license for him, and we enjoyed his company. On Sundays we visited relatives after going to Sunday School and church. I feel that it was a simpler time.

Mealtime Solutions For Healthier Diets

Having a difficult time introducing healthful meals into everyday menus?

Sometimes the easiest solution is to make a few changes to your cooking habits.

• Fresh is always best. Whenever possible, use fresh produce.

• Mix old-fashioned oats or cream of wheat hot cereal into meatloaf mixtures before baking. The cereal keeps meatloaf moist and delicious.

• Incorporate cereal into recipes to add additional bran, texture, and flavor.

• The crunch found in cereal livens up salads. The natural wheat and barley cereal adds a nutty crunch and complementary flavor to tomatoes and onions.

• Chicken breasts can benefit from a crunchy coating too. Simply crush the wheat and barley cereal in a blender, combine with zesty seasonings and coat the chicken. The result is a chicken breast that is crispy on the outside, yet juicy and full of flavor inside.

• Cereal can play a role in cake and muffin recipes. Cream of wheat adds a touch of texture to muffins and raisin bran serves as the secret ingredients in Crunchy Cinnamon Coffee Cake.

For additional recipe ideas, visit the Post Cereals web site at www.postcereals.com and www.quakeroatmeal.com.

Cereal plays a role in these recipes, which add bran, texture, and flavor for healthful eating.

Featured Recipe

This dish created by Bill Scepansky, corporate chef for Kegel's Produce, Lancaster, demonstrates the creativity possible to add class to vegetables.

This recipe is a lot easier to prepare than it may seem at first glance. Don't be afraid to try something new and to substitute ingredients if you prefer certain flavors.

Scepansky said the micro-arugula is a miniature version of arugula. If you can't find it in the produce section, substitute the regular-size arugula.

FIRE-ROASTED VEGETABLE PARFAIT

6-ounces eggplant, cut ¼-inch thick slice, skin on 6-ounce tomato, cut ¼-inch thick slice
2-ounces red pepper, cut ⅓-inch julienne
6-ounces zucchini, cut ¼-inch slice
6-ounces squash, cut ¼-inch slice
2-ounces red onion, ¼-inch slice
Baguette, ¼-inch rounds, seasoned and toasted

Opal Basil Vinaigrette
1-ounce extra-virgin olive oil
1-ounce oil, blended
1-ounce balsamic vinegar
1-ounce water
1 tablespoon honey
1 tablespoon opal basil, small chiffonade
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
Mix together all ingredients well.

These quantities yield just enough to lightly coat roasting vegetables and leave about ½ teaspoon vinaigrette per serving for drizzling on finished dish.

Garnish:
10 Kalamata olives, pitted
1 tablespoon capers, drained, rinsed
2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese, whole shaved
5 yellow teardrop tomatoes, halved
1 cup loose micro-arugula

Using vinaigrette recipe, lightly coat all roasting ingredients separately. A little goes a long way. (The vegetables take different times to cook). Roast all roasting vegetables in single layer, on sheet pans in a 450-degree oven for about five minutes or until colors are bright, beginning to brown lightly, and vegetables are tender. Cool and store until time for assembly. Reserve any juice that accumulates on pan after roasting. Add to vinaigrette recipe for added flavor.

To assemble: In small glass or serving dish, layer a slice of toasted baguette, followed by a slice of roasted eggplant. Add three strips red pepper and two slices yellow squash. Add two individual rings of roasted red onion, two slices roasted zucchini, and a slice of roasted tomato.

To garnish: Drizzle each parfait with ½ teaspoon dressing. Top each stack of vegetables with four capers, one olive, a sliver of Parmesan, ½ yellow teardrop tomato, and pinch of micro-arugula. Drizzle with ½ teaspoon vinaigrette and serve.

This may look like a dessert, but Fire-Roasted Vegetable Parfait is actually a vegetable dish created by Bill Scepansky, corporate chef for Kegel's Produce, Lancaster.

½ cup walnut pieces
1 cup cooked chicken, cubed
3 tablespoons flat leaf parsley, chopped
¼ cup apple cider vinegar

TRIPLE BERRY CINNA-CLUSTER CRISP

½ cup flour
¼ cups brown sugar
⅓ cup butter
3 cups Cinna-Cluster Raisin Bran cereal, lightly crushed
1 pint blueberries
1 pint strawberries
1 cup raspberries
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
3 tablespoons tapioca
Heat oven to 350 degrees.

Mix flour and brown sugar in large bowl. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in cereal: set aside. Mix berries in 2-quart shallow baking dish or 9-inch square baking dish; set aside.

Mix sugar, water, and tapioca in medium saucepan. Cook on medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil, stirring constantly. Pour over berries; toss to coat. Sprinkle with cereal mixture.

Bake 30-35 minutes or until bubbly. Let stand 15 minutes. Serve warm with ice cream if desired. Makes 12 servings.

CLASSIC MEATLOAF

1 to 1½ pounds lean ground beef or turkey
¾ cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
¾ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup catsup
1 egg, lightly beaten
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 cloves garlic, minced
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Combine all ingredients in large bowl; mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape meatloaf mixture into 10x6-inch loaf on rack of broiler pan.

Bake 50-55 minutes or until meatloaf is to medium doneness, not pink in center and juices show no pink color. Let stand 5 minutes before slicing.

APRICOT HONEY OATMEAL

3½ cups water
½ cup chopped dried apricots
⅓ cup honey
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked

In a 3-quart saucepan, bring water, apricot, honey, and salt to a boil. Stir in nuts, return to a boil.

Reduce heat to medium, cook about 1 minute for quick oats or 5 minutes for old-fashioned oats or until most of liquid is absorbed, stirring occasionally. Let stand until desired consistency. 4 servings.

Orange-Pineapple Upside-Down Cake Impresses Judges

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "I can't belive it! I won!" Belinda Myers kissed her blue ribbon and shed a few tears of joy when she captured first place for her pineapple upside down cake out of 37 entries.

Baked in the shape of a pineapple, the winning entry had lots of pineapple and a touch of grated orange rind.

Belinda, York, said she had been trying for a first-place win ever since the contest began about five years ago.

Her name is well known in Farm Show competitions, where she garners top prizes every year. She is a previous first place winner in apple pie and in Herhey's cocoa cake competition. Her next goal is to take first place in shoofly pie contest, where she has been a second-place winner.

The pineapple upside down cake baking contest was conducted in the Family Living Center at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Myers takes home a premium check for $500 for her efforts. The other winners included second-prize winner Connie Shuff, also of York County, who took home $100 in premium money; Deb Walker of Adams County in third, who won $50; June Peters of Erie County in fourth; and Jean Kite of Jefferson County who took fifth. The fourth and fifth place winners did not receive a premium, but did get a ribbon for their cakes.

The cakes were judged on consistency, flavor, moisture, texture, aroma, and creativity.

The Pineapple upside-down cake contest is unique in that entrants do not have to win at a county fair or any other competition. Anyone may enter this contest and join in the fun.

Here is the winning recipe:

Orange-Pineapple Upside-Down Cake

Pan glaze:
- 6 tablespoons butter
- ¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- ¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 6 whole pineapple slices (drained, cut in half)
- 12 Maraschino Cherries

Cake Batter:
- ⅓ cup butter
- 1 egg
- 1¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup pineapple juice
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
- ¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon pineapple extract
- 1¼ teaspoon baking powder
- 2 tablespoons milk
- Rolled fondant tinted green (cut into long leaves)

Melt the 6 tablespoons butter in a small bowl. Add brown sugar and granulated sugars. Stir well. Place into the bottom of a 10x7⅞x2-inch oval pan. Lay pineapple slices in strips to represent a pineapple. Place a cherry in each center of slices. Set aside.

In large mixing bowl, beat the butter, ¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg, and pineapple extract. Beat until light and fluffy. Measure out flour, baking powder, and salt. Add dry ingredients alternatively to creamed mixture with milk and pineapple juice. Mix until smooth. Fold in rind.

Pour mixture gently over prepared fruit in pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 30 to 40 minutes or until set in center. When removed from oven, flip cake onto serving plate. Garnish with fondant leaves. Serves 10 to 12.

Best Apple Pie Winners

that only a two-point difference separated the first and second placings.

Vicki Becker's Topsy Turvy Apple Pie placed third. A Reinhold's resident, Vicki placed first at New Holland Farmers Fair to qualify for the state competition.

"It's an upside-down pie," Vicki said. It is baked with the crust on top, flipped upside down when finished, resulting in a layer of pecans and glaze covering the finished pie.

Barbara Noye, Altoona, entered Southern Ambrosia Apple Pie, which had placed first at Hollidaysburg Community Farm Show and fourth place at state. The mixture of cream cheese, pecan, sugar, and apples boiled over in the oven, so Barbara didn't think she had a chance at winning. But the flavor impressed the judges. Unfortunately, Barbara is diabetic, and said she can't even sample the pies she makes.

Cindy Bruce, West Chester, placed fifth in the apple pie competition and, later that afternoon, third in the Greatest Chocolate Cake contest.

Five judges analyzed each entry and scored them on texture, flavor, appearance, and other elements.

Judging takes three hours. During the wait, participants often compare techniques. Andrea Witmer, Mifflinburg, said that she uses five different apple varieties in her pies.

It was the first state Farm Show that Pam John, Berwick, attended. She took first place in her three pie entries at the Bloomsburg Fair. She expressed amazement at the variety and creativity of the entries.

Sharon Kurtz's Blue Ribbon recipe is listed below:

Sharon's Apple Pie Crust
- 3 cups flour
- 1½ cups butter-flavored Crisco
- 5 tablespoons water
- ½ teaspoon apple flavor
- 1 tablespoon apple cider vinegar
- 1 egg
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

Mix flour, salt, and Crisco with mixer. Add beaten egg mixed with water, flavors, and vinegar. Divide dough into 3 pieces. Using a rolling pin, roll dough out on a floured board into a 12-inch circle. Fit dough circle into a 9-inch pie dish. Trim excess and flute edge. This recipe makes 3 pie shells.

Pie Filling:
- 7-9 apples
- 9 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons margarine

Mix flour and 3 tablespoons sugar in bottom of a pie shell. Arrange finely sliced apples in shell. Sprinkle with remaining sugar and cinnamon. Dot with margarine. Top with crumbs and bake at 375 degrees for 1 hour or until apples are soft. Remove from oven and top pie with ½ cup chopped pecans. When pie has cooled, drizzle ½ cup caramel apple dip over pie.

Crumb Topping:
- ¼ cup flour
- ⅛ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon butter-flavored Crisco
- Dash of salt

Combine above ingredients with mixer to make crumb topping.

Wet-Bottom Shoofly Pie Captures $500 Prize

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "I never made a shoofly pie until a week before Farm Show," Debra Ann Gruber, Slatedale, confessed. "But everyday for the last week, I just about burned the house down making one after another."

Debra said she tried "a little bit of this and a little bit of that to come up with her prize-winning recipe.

Ironically, she didn't taste the pie that won. She said, "It just looked prettier than the others I tried."

The appealing pie had a deep wet bottom with a double layer of crumbs dotted with tiny cut-out heart shapes from glazed pie crust.

In a competition sponsored by Golden Barrel baking products and hosted by Good Food, Inc., judges evaluated 40 pies on overall appearance, consistency, flavor, moistness, texture, and aroma.

Shoofly pie is an old-time molasses classic, one where the ingredients are cheap, usually on hand, and the pie itself doesn't need refrigeration.

The top three pies received cash prizes from Good Foods, Inc. Third place was awarded $100, second $200, and first place $500.

Second place went to Debra Martin, Lancaster County; third to David Dissinger, Dauphin County; fourth to Cindy Thomasson, Lancaster County; and fifth to Kathy Witmer, Cumberland County.

Here is the winning recipe:

Wet Bottom Shoofly Pie

Crumbs:
- 1 cup cake flour
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 4 tablespoons shortening
- Dash cinnamon

Filling:
- 1 egg (beaten)
- ¼ cup "Golden Barrel" molasses (Blackstrap)
- ¼ cup corn syrup
- ½ cup table syrup
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ cup boiling water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Topping:
- 1 cup chopped pecans

Glaze: 1 egg white, slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon cold water

Sugar Coating:
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar mixed with 1 teaspoon brown sugar

To make the crumbs: Mix together the flour and brown sugar and shortening. Add the cinnamon, work into crumbs, and set aside.

To make the filling: Dissolve baking soda into the boiling water. Add the molasses, vanilla, beaten egg, corn syrup, and table syrup.

Reserve 1 cup of the crumbs for the top of the pie. Stir remaining crumbs with the liquid mixture. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes and top with chopped pecans. Next, put reserved crumbs on top of pecans (so pecans don't burn). Brush glaze on edge of crust and sprinkle sugar coating on top of glazed crust. Bake again at 350 for 35 minutes, or until done. Remove from oven and top with additional batch of crumb mixture. Brush egg white and place glaze, sugar, and edible sugar on edge.

Pie Crust:
- 3 cups flour
- 1½ cups shortening
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 beaten egg
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons vinegar

Makes 3 crusts. Use 8-inch pie tins. For decorations: Cut hearts out of rolled dough, put on greased cookie sheet, brush with egg white glaze and sugared mixture. Bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address. You may also e-mail questions and answers to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM

QUESTION — Ralph Kieffer, Halifax, wants a recipe for Aunt Flossie's tomato soup, which he heard is printed in a Lancaster County cookbook.

QUESTION — Sandra Smith is looking for a recipe for potato skin soup.

QUESTION — A steady reader wants to know how to make natural vinegar, which is a vinegar that gets a "mother" in it. Is there a place to buy such vinegar?

QUESTION — Jane Freed, Mertztown, wants a recipe for making homemade sauerkraut to can. She wants two methods: the one that ferments in a crock and the one packed in quart jars.

QUESTION — A reader wants low-fat recipes and diabetic recipes that other readers have tried and liked.

QUESTION — A Narvon reader writes that she accidentally discarded two recipes, which she had clipped from this column, that her family really liked. One recipe was for waffles, and the lady who had submitted it wrote that she sold them at a stand when she was young. The other recipe was for biscuits that used cold butter cut into the flour. Anyone know to which recipes she is referring? Please send in to be reprinted.

QUESTION — June Martin, Oxford, N.J., wants a recipe to make venison hot dogs.

QUESTION — Nina Biddle, Tyrone, has identical recipes for sugar cookies, one using Pillsbury flour and the other Gold Medal. Why do they taste differently if the identical ingredients are used? If we do not recieve an answer to this request within two weeks, we will drop it.

ANSWER — Frank Bonk, Perth Amboy, N.J., wanted to know where to find fresh killed geese and goose livers. Thanks to Richard Langhman, Chambersburg, for writing that fresh-dressed geese can be purchased at Peachy's Butcher Shop and Market, Belleville (Mifflin Co.) Phone (800) 222-3341.

ANSWER — Pat Elligson, Millers, Md., wanted a recipe for good, moist old-fashioned fruit cake that is thick with fruit and nuts. Unfortunately we did not receive any recipes in time for holiday baking. But this week, three were submitted. I guess people have time since the holiday season is over. So please clip these recipes to use for next year's Christmas season. Thanks to Shirley Orfanella, Quarryville, for sending a recipe for a fruit cake "that they will really eat."

Dark Fruitcake

- 3½ cups mixed diced fruits and peels
- 1¼ cups dark seedless raisins
- 1¼ cups light seedless raisins
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 3 cups enriched flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon allspice
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 cup shortening
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 4 large eggs
- ¾ cup grape juice

Mix fruits, peels, raisins, and nuts. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and spices. Sprinkle ¼ cup over fruit mix and blend well. Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, mix well. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture adding grape juice. Pour batter over fruits and mix well.

Line two 8½x4½-inch loaf pans with waxed paper, allowing ½ inch to extend above all sides. Fill ¾ full. Do not flatten. Bake in very slow oven (275 degrees) for 3-3½ hours or until done. Put pan of water on bottom oven rack. Makes about 6 pounds.

Thanks to Stephanie Luckenbaugh, Abbottstown, for sending a recipe she's had since the 1950s. She writes that although it is not the traditional fruitcake recipe, it is very delicious and simple to prepare.

Brazil Nut Cake

- 3 cups Brazil nuts OR 3 cups walnuts, halved, OR combination of both
- 16 ounces dates OR raisins, chopped, pitted or combination of both
- 1 cup red maraschino cherries, drained
- 1 cup green maraschino cherries, drained
- ¾ cup sugar
- ¾ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix together nuts, fruits, and cherries in a bowl. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Add to the fruit and nut mixture and stir well. Next, combine the 3 beaten eggs and vanilla and add to the fruit, nut, and flour mixture. Mix well until everything is moist. Pour into a loaf pan and press down hard all over the top. Bake at 300 degrees for 105 minutes. Cool completely. Do not try to remove cake from loaf pan until cake is completely cool.

Thanks to a steady reader from Manheim for sending this recipe, which she writes should be made at least three weeks in advance of eating. This recipe was handed down through the family from the reader's great grandmother. However the reader writes that she hasn't made it for about five years because she is the only one in her family who likes fruit cake.

Old-Fashioned Fruit Cake

Sift together and set aside:

- 3 cups cake flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon mace
- ½ teaspoon salt

Cream together:

- 1 cup shortening (half Crisco, half margarine)
- 1½ cups light brown sugar
- 3 large eggs, add one at a time

Fruit and nuts in separate bowl:

- 1 cup light raisins
- 1 cup dark raisins
- 1 cup chopped figs
- 2 cups chopped nuts (pecans and English walnuts)
- 1 cup candied cherries
- ¼ cup candied orange peel
- ¼ cup candied lemon peel
- ¼ cup candied citron
- ¼ cup candied pineapple

Take about ½ cup of the dry ingredients and mix into fruit and nuts to give a dusted coating, set aside.

To dry ingredients, mix alternately with creamed mixture, adding ½ cup peach or grape juice and 1 cup grape jelly. Mix well. Add the fruit and nuts and stir well.

Line two tube pans or three loaf pans with waxed paper, greased and floured pan and paper. Place walnut halves and candied cherries on top.

Bake at 275 degrees for 1 hour, increase temperature to 300 degrees and bake an additional 1½-2 hours.

If cake browns too soon, cover with brown paper.

When cakes are cooled, soak a white cloth in grape wine or grape juice and wrap cake in it. Place in tight container. Check every week to be sure cloth is damp. If not, unwrap, dampen cloth again and replace in container.

ANSWER — A reader wanted a recipe to make raisin bran muffins in which the mix can be refrigerated up to 30 days and used when needed. Thanks to Jean Sarver, Millerstown, and others for sending recipes. Elaine Brown, Tunkhannock, sent a similar recipe. She writes if all the batter is baked at once, it makes 4 dozen regular-sized muffins, which freeze well after baking. For Elaine and others who inquire: We do not have a test kitchen. We rely upon our readers to send correct recipes that they have tried. Yes, we have had many requests for publishing an annual cookbook but are not pursuing it at this time. Thanks for your idea for typestyle changes, which we may incorporate in the future.

Six-Week Bran Muffins

- 5 cups flour
- 5 teaspoons baking soda
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 15-ounces bran flakes with raisins
- 3 cups sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup oil
- 1 quart buttermilk
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

In large bowl, mix first five ingredients. Add bran flakes and sugar. Mix well. In mixing bowl, beat eggs, add oil, buttermilk, and vanilla. Pour over flour mixture and stir well. Transfer to plastic container with tight fitting lid and store in refrigerator until ready to use. Keeps up to six weeks. When ready to bake, don't stir when dipping out to fill muffin pans. Drop ½ cup into paper-lined tins. Bake 20 minutes at 375 degrees.

ANSWER — For the reader who requested recipes for a steak sauce to use as a marinade and to make steaks like those served at steak houses, Carroll Boyer, Stewartstown, sent in the following comprehensive instructions on how to cook a steak:

- Steak — you must find a local butcher who will hand cut your steak to 1¼-2-inches thick, and tell him not to trim it. Steak houses do not buy steaks from the supermarket. You must purchase your steak at least the day before you plan to use it.
- Marinade — you must marinate at least 12 hours. You can use either a dry or liquid rub. Carroll uses a dry rub from McCormick. Rub each steak on both sides using a liberal amount on each side until it disappears. Place steaks in a plastic bag in refrigerator.
- To cook the steak — you must have a very hot cooking surface. The steak must sizzle when you start them. Use tongs — not forks. Lay your steaks on the grill. Brush the top of steak with oil (any cooking oil will do), turn the steaks, using the tongs lift each steak for 10 seconds to let it breathe. Walk away for 5 minutes. Now coat the top side with oil, turn, lift each steak again for 10 seconds and walk away for 5 more minutes. Now your steaks are done.

"If your crowd wants well-done steak, send them to a leather shop," Carroll writes.

Plastics And The Microwave

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Stories about the dangers of chemicals leaching from plastic into microwaved food have circulated for years. As a result, the Food and Drug Administration continues to receive inquiries from concerning consumers.

Consumers can be confident as they heat meals or leftovers in the microwave that the FDA carefully reviews the substances used to make plastics designed for food use. These include microwave-safe plastic coverings that keep food from splattering and microwave-safe containers that hold frozen dinners. Even microwavable popcorn bags, which look like paper, actually contain a metalized plastic film that allows them to reach high temperatures so the corn can fully pop.

Under the food additive provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, new substances used to make plastics for food use are classified as "food contact substances." They must be found safe for their intended use before they can be marketed.

Consumers should be sure to use any plastics for their intended purpose and in accordance with directions. If you don't find instructions for microwave use, you should use a different plate or container that you know is microwave-safe. Such containers are made to withstand high temperatures.

For example, carryout containers from restaurants and margarine tubs should not be used in the microwave, according to the American Plastics Council. Inappropriate containers may melt or warp, which can increase the likelihood of spills and burns. Also, discard containers that hold prepared microwavable meals after you use them because they are meant for one-time use.

Microwave-safe plastic wrap should be placed loosely over food so that steam can escape, and should not directly touch your food. Some plastic wraps have labels indicating that there should be a one-inch or greater space between the plastic and the food during microwave heating.

Always read directions, but generally, microwave-safe plastic wraps, wax paper, cooking bags, parchment paper, and white microwave-safe paper towels are safe to use. Covering food helps protect against contamination, keeps moisture in, and allows food to cook evenly. Never use plastic storage bags, grocery bags, newspapers, or aluminum foil in the microwave.

New Year's Resolutions For Your Marriage

Like growing a precious plant, growing a healthy marriage takes time, a supportive environment, and lots of high-quality nourishment. What better time than the beginning of a new year to reaffirm as a couple the high priority that you place on the well-being of your relationship?

In today's fast-paced world, one of the most treasured gifts we can give to one another is the gift of time paired with our undivided attention. Why not make a new year's resolution to dedicate special blocks of time this coming year to your marriage? Time beyond what you normally give. Special times for having fun and nourishing your relationship—just the two of you—in whatever ways you hold most dear.

Don't just talk about jointly making one or more New Year's resolutions for your marriage; look ahead at the calendar for the coming year and block out some definite times for marriage enrichment.

For example, you might want to designate the first Saturday of every month as Marriage Enrichment Day. Your monthly commitment could be to use the whole day or, perhaps, just the evening to feed your relationship in ways that are important to both of you. You might go hiking in the woods, attend a marriage enrichment seminar, or take in a play, a concert, or a ball game.

Here's another idea: Why not plan a weekend getaway during the year for just the two of you? Let your creative juices flow and dream up outings or other adventures that will truly be memory-makers for both of you. Think twice before you decide, "We can't afford the money and time this would take."

Time and money are two of our most important resources; how we use them tells us a lot about what we really value.

Your marriage is extraordinarily important; give it the time and money it deserves! In addition to blocking out special times this coming year for enjoying and enriching your marriage, you may want to try one or more of the following marriage enrichment ideas:

- Write a romantic, from-your-heart love letter to your spouse. Address and stamp it, then mail it from somewhere else in your community.
- Plan a little surprise for your loved one that you know he or she will really appreciate.
- Get out some old pictures from earlier in your relationship, and enjoy the memories they invoke.
- Talk about when you first met or started dating, and how you felt about each other.
- Make it a point to tell your spouse some of the things that you like most about him or her. Share your appreciation on a regular basis. This is one time when repeating yourself is definitely OK.
- Express your love by showing affection in ways that you know your husband or wife will appreciate. Little gestures of shared affection help to keep the romantic fires burning brightly.
- Jot down three special things you would like your spouse to do for you, and ask him or her to do the same for you. Then exchange your lists and see what happens in the next few days.
- Take turns completing the following sentences with one another: I love it when you . . . . You seem most peaceful when . . . .I hope that we . . . .
- Exchange neck, shoulder and back rubs. Take your time, relax, and thoroughly enjoy it. At another time, do full-body massages.
- List seven activities that you love to do with your partner as he or she compiles a similar list. Then share your lists with one another and make some plans.

A happy marriage is a joy, and for most, it's also a tremendous challenge. Don't feel discouraged when problems crop up; disagreements are normal. Accept these challenges as opportunities for learning and growing.

When a difficulty arises, handle it in the most skillful way possible. Ask yourself, "What can I learn from this situation that will help me become a better and more loving person?" and "How can we, as a couple, use this opportunity to strengthen our marriage?"

Kids Bake Brownies, Cookies For Farm Show Competition

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Lots of competitions exist for kids attending the Pennsylvania Farm Show. One of the most competitive is vying for top prizes in the Hershey Chocolate Cookie Contest, open only to kids.

The most entries ever — 68 — showed up for judging on opening day of Farm Show. The contestants must prequalify by winning first place at a local fair.

Gail Matthews, Susquehanna County, placed first but was missing when winners were announced. She receives a two-night stay for four at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center.

Second-place Krista Border, Hopewell, received $45 for her brownies that had a layer of marshmallows and rice crispy cereal on top

Ten-year-old Timothy Lazier of West End Fair in Monroe County baked cookies with Reeses peanut butter cups in the middle. Jaclyn Hoffman baked black and white brownie bars. Jaclyn is from New Ringgold and had placed first at Schuylkill County Fair.

Here is the recipe for the first-place entry.

Cocoa Caramel Bars

2 cups granulated sugar
3 eggs
⅔ cup Hershey's Baking Cocoa
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter
1½ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
¼ cup chopped pecans

Topping:

⅔ cup caramel ice cream topping
¼ cup chopped pecans
5 tablespoons hot fudge ice cream topping

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Combine sugar, flour, cocoa, and salt into a bowl. Stir in butter, eggs, and vanilla. Mix well. Spread batter into a 9x5-inch greased baking pan. Arrange chopped pecans evenly in batter. Bake for about 20-25 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

Place caramel topping in a small microwave-safe bowl. Microwave on high until hot and bubbly. Stir chopped pecans into a caramel topping. Spread evenly over hot bars. Farm Women Meet For Business, Friendship, Fun, Entertainment

Catherine Schott and her husband Leonard express gratefulness for the care Farm Women have extended as Catherine undergoes cancer treatment.

President of the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania Catherine Schott is most often known at Lebanon County Expo Center as the "Queen Bee of the Kitchen." Make no mistake — she is also a ruler and she brought this gravel to prove it.

"I'm alive because America cared," said Hildegard Sollenberger, who gave a moving account of growing up in worn-torn Poland during World War II, her years as a refugee, and her subsequent move to America.

Secretary of Agriculture Sam Hayes said that agriculture would not be the same without farm women, who are equal working partners and who bring harmony, peace, and love into homes. President Catherine Schott responded by saying that agriculture would not be the same without Hayes.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Sure, only women are members of the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania. But that didn't stop Elvis Presley and Secretary of Agriculture Sam Hayes from appearing at the Society's 84th annual convention on Monday at the Penn Harris Hotel, Harrisburg.

The convention mixed fun, entertainment, and business during the day-long session attended by about 200 of the state society's 2,181 members.

President Catherine Schott from Lebanon County stressed the theme "friends" by interspersing many quotes about the value of friendships forged through Farm Women membership.

County presidents recapped the past year by reporting activities. Much time and energy is spent raising thousands of dollars to help individuals and communities. Some of the ways they raised money was by holding bake sales, suppers, Bingo games, operating food stands at fairs and other events, and selling crafts and other items. Members volunteer at local hospitals, food banks, soup kitchens, and other service facilities. They pick up garbage along roadsides and provide teddy bears, blankets, and more to abused children.

The state society's most outstanding fundraiser is a cookbook with sales of 25,000 books, now in its 13th printing. The profits provide monies for scholarships. This year, scholarship recipients are Karen Lyn Grubb, Berks; Emily Grove, Emme Mellott, and Barbara Reichard from Franklin County; Derick Bollinger, Jessica Latham, and Kevin Pfautz from Lancaster County; Holly Binkley, Timothy Crouse, Sarah Krall, and Tara Zimmerman from Lebanon County; Thomas Ferguson Jr., Somerset; and Michelle Miller and Amanda Schott from York County.

Despite an aging membership, Farm Women continue to perpetuate their motto: "For Happiness." In addition to donations to their individual communities, members worked together for the state project — Feed the Children — and donated $2,044 to food banks. They believe they are never too old to learn and conducted sessions on rug weaving, flower arranging, and other crafts.

"Most of all, we had fun" was the message reiterated by many county presidents presenting reports.

Concerned about safety in the home and on the farm, the state society lauds county societies that conduct at safety sessions. Recognized were the following counties: Cambria, Franklin, Fulton, Lancaster, Lebanon, Somerset, York, Adams, Berks, and Dauphin.

Catherine Schott finished her three-year term as president and installed her successor Becky Swallow from Somerset County. Becky has been a Farm Women member for 23 years and even founded one of the nine societies in her county with 174 members. Becky has been married to Raymond Swallow for 35 years and he continues to crop farm. They have two children and six grandchildren.

Becky said that her theme for the next three years will be "secure our future through our youth."

Other officers installed included state directors Betsy Sattsazahn, Mary Jane Diehl, Betty Wert, Becky Swallow, Sharon Engle, and Lorraine Royer.

The afternoon session included a moving account of growing up in worn-torn Poland during World War II by Hildegard Sollenberger. Now a Cumberland countian, Hildegard told of fleeing from Russian terror, her years as a refugee, and her subsequent move to America.

Entertainment was provided by Country Bear Cloggers of East Berlin. One of the members imitated "Elvis Presley" in dress and song.

The state society will conduct a spring rally May 21 in Franklin County.

A memorial service in honor of members who died during the past year was conducted by Gladys Esbenshade, Charlotte Stoner, and Phyllis Newcomer.

Elvis Presley and the Country Bear Cloggers provide entertainment.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — With a smile on his face, Judge Ken Bauman of New Carlisle, Ohio, answers the question of what exactly a judge is looking for when challenged with a myriad of entries in this year's edible nut competition: "We're looking for good nuts!" That's exactly what Judge Bauman found when he was presented with Chelsea Cool's Persian (English) walnut entry. Chelsea, a resident of Biglerville, Adams County, was graced with a Grand Champion of Show Award plaque for her notable exhibit.

As simple as this statement may be, it took a whole lot of teamwork to crack through this year's participant entries. Assistants to the judge would break approximately three nuts from each submission and evaluate a few essential characteristics like how well the nuts crack and come apart, how well the meat comes out in halves and quarters, the size of the meat, and the coloration. To simplify, Judge Bauman states that usually, "bigger is better" and the lighter the coloration of the nutmeat, the more desirable the flavor.

With over 18 classes, and as many as 11 subclasses, the judges evaluated mostly using just visual observations. Top selections are as follows:

Best Eastern black walnut: Miles Nolt.

Best Persian (English) walnut: Chelsea Cool

Best butternuts: Jill Lippert.

Best buartnuts: George D. Wells.

Maple Syrup, Rabbit Breeders Queens Help Associations During Farm Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Maple trees provided the raw product, but Maplewood High School senior Megan Pratt came up with the refined brand name.

One day she decided that "Bubba and Roy's Maple Products," which she named, would do well. Her dad, Dave, is nicknamed "Bubba" by his brother-in-law, whom he called "Boy." (But Fred changed the name on the label to Roy.)

Megan, 17, is the daughter of Teresa and Dave Pratt, Saegertown, and is the reigning Pennsylvania Maple Sweetheart. Megan helped the Northwest Pennsylvania Maple Producers Association and state association members during Farm Show Week.

Megan said the family maple producing business began about four years ago. Her dad Dave said there are about 150 taps on trees in their area. Taps can vary depending on the size of the tree, Dave noted.

The Pratts produce about 40 gallons of syrup which they market themselves to friends and family. The syrup is sold in pints and half gallons.

Dave noted that cousins are more involved with maple production. Dave noted he helped harvest and package maple products since he was a child.

Megan was crowed last September during the Pennsylvania State Maple Tour in Somerset County. She plans to attend college and is considering enrollment at Allegheny College to study broadcast communications.

Megan assisted with the Farm Show Maple Growers Booth and the Maple Food Booth at the Food Court during Farm Show Week.

Alia Pajak, 16, daughter of Fred and Darlene Pajak, Eighty-Four, was also on hand to help her association during Farm Show Week.

Alia, a junior at Bentworth High School, is president of her Vankirk Friendship 4-H Club. Alia is a nine-year member of the club and helped the State Rabbit Breeders Association at the booth.

Her dad, Fred, noted that Alia is the third of four of his daughters to serve as the commodity queen. She was crowned last February at the annual state convention at the Lebanon Fairgrounds.

Morgan Creek Shows Champion Goat For Brother In Navy

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Morgan Creek had an extra job to do at the Farm Show this year. Not only did he have his own goats to exhibit, but he also needed to take over showing his brother's animals.

That's because his brother, Matthew Creek, left for the Persian Gulf on a Navy ship one week before the Farm Show.

Meanwhile, Morgan led Matthew's doe, "Muddy Boer Baby Girl," to the championship in the junior meat goat breeding division Sunday.

The brothers are sons of Robert and Pattie Creek, Shippensburg. Morgan, 18, is a senior at Shippensburg High School and has been showing goats for five years.

Matthew Creek had been in the Navy for about a year when he set sail Jan. 5 from Little Creek, Va., toward the unstable situation in Iraq. Morgan said it's not certain what his older brother's crew may become involved in during the mission.

Zac Ocker of Newville, Cumberland County, exhibited the grand champion of the market goat divisions.

Ocker, a ninth-grader at Big Spring High School and member of the Cumberland County 4-H and FFA Livestock Club, has been exhibiting at the Farm Show for five years, but this one marked his first championship.

The goat's name is "Shadrach," Ocker said, but he calls him "Shaq" for short.

Ocker is the son of Bill and Kim Ocker, Shippensburg.

Matt Riebling, a 10th-grader from Hanover exhibited the reserve champion.

Michael Borsch of Ohio judged the show and made the following placings for the breeding division:

Morgan Creek exhibited this champion market breeding goat for his brother, Matthew, who is stationed in the Persian Gulf with the U.S. Navy.

Zac Ocker won the junior market goat championship with this Boer.

Cornell To Develop NFC Apple Juice For Leroy Project

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — IFP North America New York, Inc. (IFPNANY) President Herbert "Herb" W. Fiss has announced that Cornell University has agreed to develop a 100 percent NFC (not-from-concentrate) fresh apple juice to be processed at a proposed new IFPNANY juice plant in LeRoy, N.Y.

Cornell food scientists will develop NFC fresh apple juice, an exciting premium beverage that will serve as the signature product for the new plant once it comes on line. The research will be conducted at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva and is expected to be completed by January.

NFC apple juice is made by pressing apples for juice and then pasteurizing the product. The juice is filled and packaged into gable-top containers with spouts and sold in the refrigerated section of supermarkets.

"We're excited to have the world's most eminent food scientists working on our behalf to develop this revolutionary new product," Fiss said. "The success of a New York NFC premium apple juice is expected to parallel the success the Florida citrus industry has enjoyed with its NFC orange juice."

"We are very excited to provide the technical expertise and innovation that will support the success of this project," said Olga Padilla-Zakour, a Cornell professor and director of the NYS Food Venture Center at the Geneva Experiment Station.

"New York has the most flavorful apples and we will use our knowledge and expertise to develop a safe process that will retain that great flavor in a premium refrigerated apple juice. This is a critical project that will benefit New York apple growers and will also create economic development in Western NY," she said.

IFPNANY aims to open a state-of-the-art fruit processing plant in LeRoy, N.Y. that would create 300 new jobs and take in more than 3 million bushels of local apples every year. The plant would use patented technology that would make it a one-of-a kind facility in the U.S.

Pittsford Capital Group of Pittsford, N.Y. is serving as the investment bankers for IFPNANY, working to raise the $35 million needed to open the plant.

Petzoldt Wins Service Award

ITHACA, N.Y. — Curtis Petzoldt, who develops innovative programs for managing pests on New York's 211,200 acres of vegetable farms, recently received a service award from Epsilon Sigma Phi, the national honorary Cooperative Extension fraternity.

Petzoldt is the vegetable coordinator and assistant director of the New York State Integrated Pest Management (NYS IPM) Program, which promotes non- and least-toxic ways of dealing with pests.

"When we give these awards, we look for people who are creative, who provide solid, trustworthy information that anyone in the field can use with confidence," says David Hawley, the executive director of Cornell Cooperative Extension in Rensselaer County.

Star, 'Hex' Signs Make Comeback In Berks County

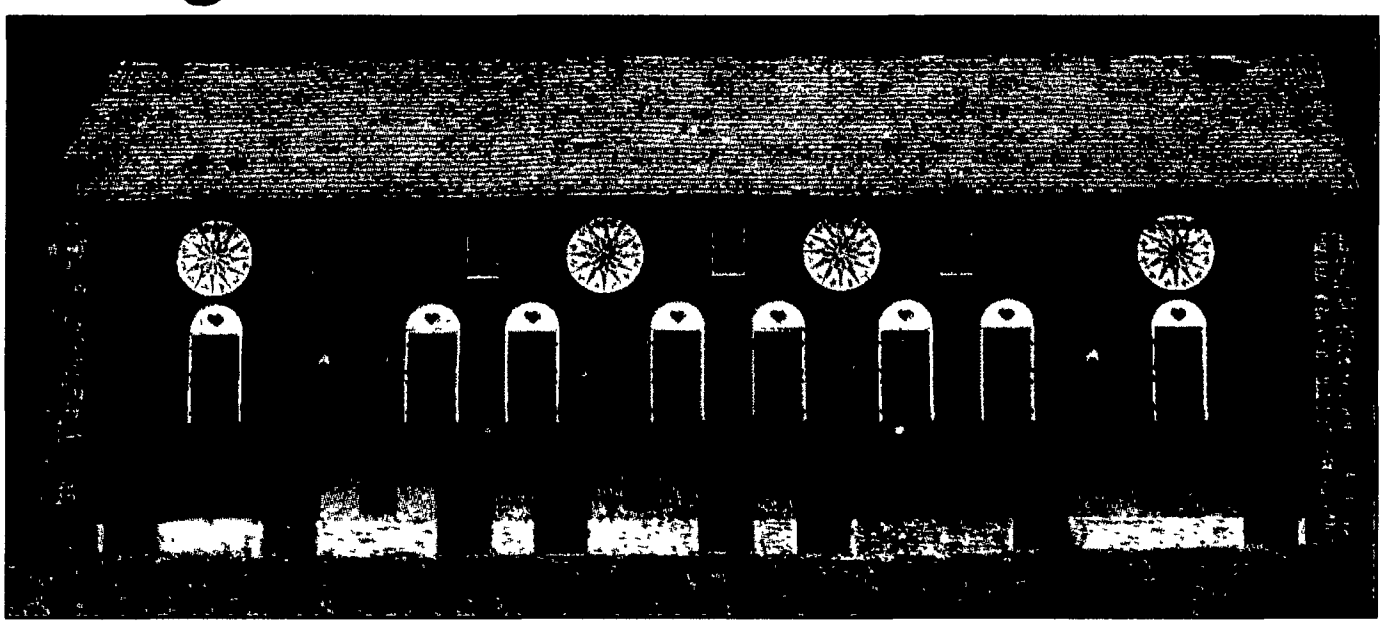
LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Colorful stars and art forms are brightening barns again in Berks and Lehigh counties.

The designs often referred to as hex signs are making a comeback, thanks to the historical efforts of the Pennsylvania Heritage Center at Kutztown University and the Dutch Hex Tour Association.

According to David Valuska, director of the Pennsylvania German Cultural Heritage Center, Old Route 22 has been known for decades as the "Hex Highway" — in recognition of the array of colorful barns stars painted on the barns along the highway.

The designs are cherished for inserting colorful beauty on the large wooden barns. But many of these are fading or the barns have been destroyed. In fact, Valuska estimates that half of the barns have disappeared since 1988.



This is one of the barns located along "hex highway." The Pennsylvania Dutch Hex Tour Association publishes an informative map guide of the "hex highway" to show the location of prominent bars with hex signs. For a free copy, call (800) HEX-Tour.

"This is tragic, because the barn star is one of a very small number of art forms that are unique to Pennsylvania Germans," said Dave Fooks, coordinator of a barn star endowment fund.

Fooks said that barn hex symbols originated in Berks County.

Prior to the 1830s, barns were left unpainted because of the high price of paint. As paint became more affordable, the Pennsylvania Germans began to decorate their barns much like they decorated their homes. However the Amish and Mennonites did not paint designs on their barns because their religion forbids anything fancy or decorative.

Many artists became specialized in barn decorating, which reached its peak in the early 20th century.

Some historians believe the barn stars were painted on barns merely for beauty. But others maintain that the signs had hidden meanings, such as to keep evil spirits at bay or to bring good luck.

Some of the meanings associated with the symbols include fertility, the distelfink bird of happiness and good fortune, friendship, love and friendship, abundance and good will, faith, hope, and charity.

German and Swiss immigrants, collectively known as the Pennsylvania Dutch, developed a rich folk art tradition of colorful quilts, needlework, and painted decorative furniture unique to Dutch Country.

But the tradition of painting the "hex signs" are barns did not begin until the mid-19th century.

The geometric patterns and symbolism of barn decorations traces its roots to medieval Europe.

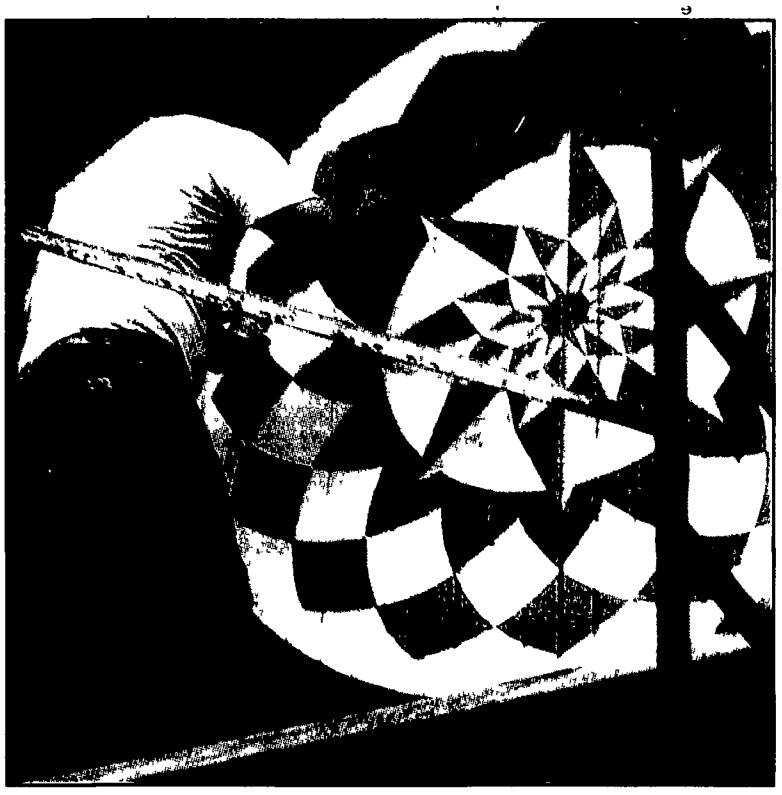
Although controversy over the original meaning continues, all agree that the designs add attractive interest to the area and are happy to see the art designs maintained.

Eric Claypoole, master hex painter, recently repainted a barn sign located on Crystal Cave Road near Kutztown. Its location offers visual exposure to tens of thousands of visitors who tour Crystal Cave annually.

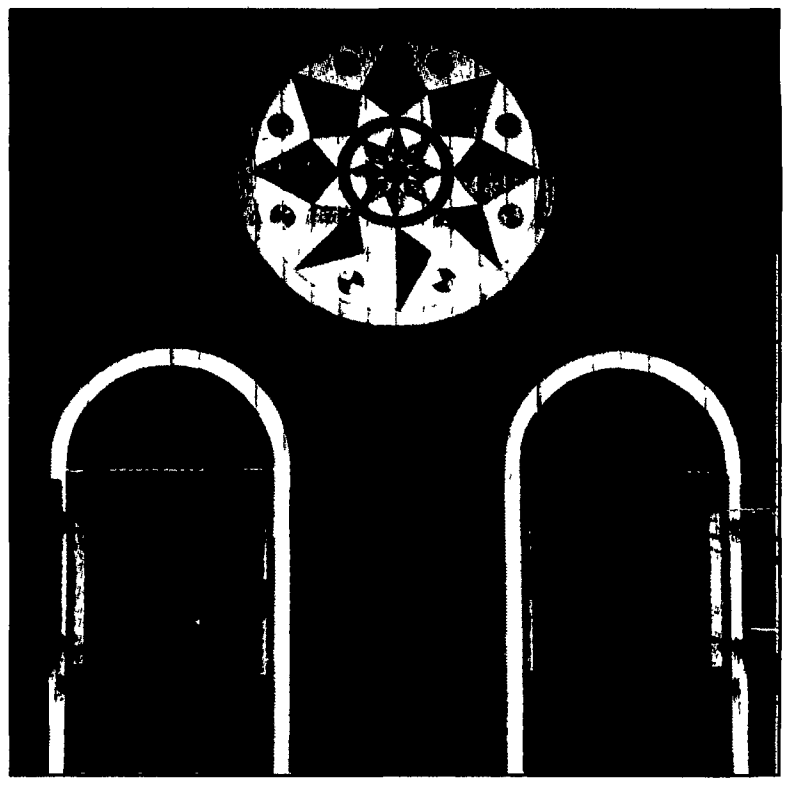
More than 60 signs have been repainted. Matching grants are provided to owners of barns with hex signs that are visually prominent to the motoring public.

The Pennsylvania Dutch Hex Tour Association publishes an informative map guide of the "hex highway" to show the location of prominent barns with hex signs and the symbolic meaning attributed to them. For a free copy, call (800) HEX-Tour.

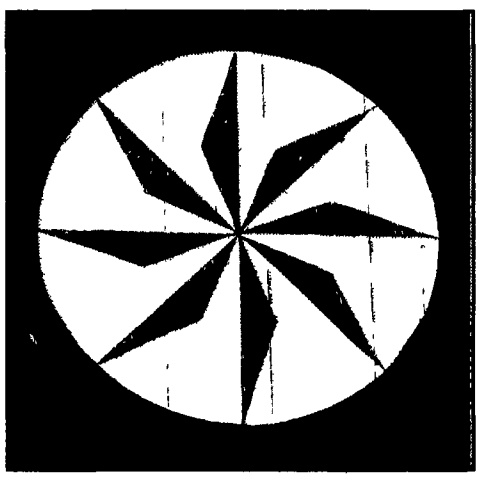
The tour takes most of the day if visitors enjoy attractions along the way.



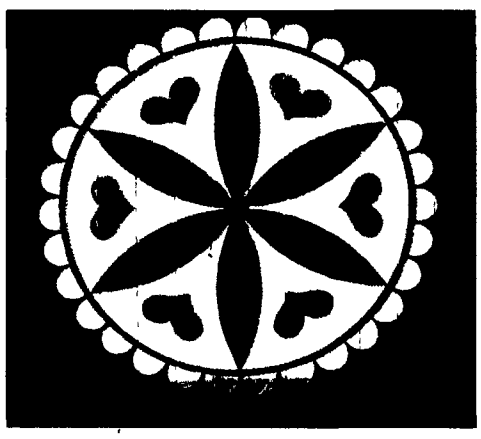
A master hex sign painter is commissioned to repaint the stars in hues of reds, blues, yellows, and whites.



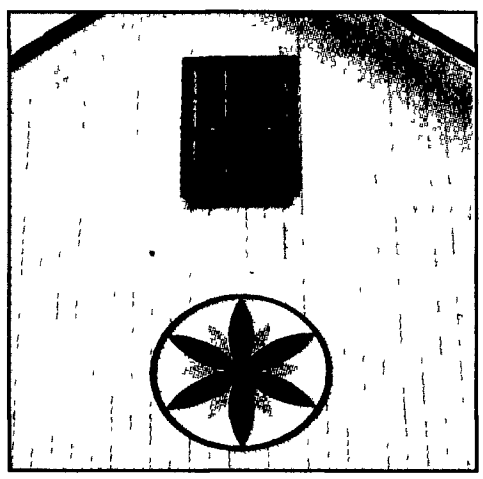
An endowment fund is expected to raise $15,000 to repaint designs which have faded on the barns.



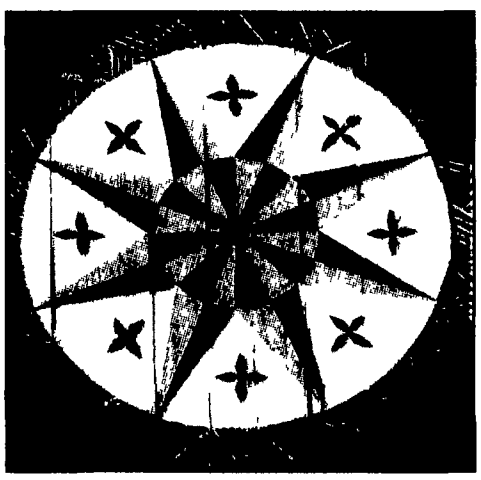
In recent years, these designs appeared most often in quilt designs but at one time, the designs were prominently painted on wooden barns.



Only a few master hex sign painters skilled in this unique art form have been commissioned to repaint the neat, precise, and colorful designs which are disappearing from the countryside.



During the early and mid-1800s, many wooden barns had colorful designs such as these painted on them.



Berks Countians boasts that the popularity of painting hex signs on the barns originated in their county.

Canes, Walking Sticks Can Be Valuable

Is your grandfather's cane a family heirloom?

You may be surprised to learn that some canes and walking sticks are considered collectible antiques and often a unique art form. Prices at auction can go from several hundred to more than $2,000. There is a growing collectors market for rare, old, and unusual examples, and more dealers specialize in them. And, once again walking sticks are fashionable.

Their function may have changed over the centuries from utilitarian to a fashionable, status symbol. Even a weapon. The fact that swords and guns were contained inside the shafts of canes as late as the 1900s tell you something about the times.

Even a shillelagh of heavy knarled oak can be intimidating.

Ivory handles were among the most popular tops for canes, as were those made of gold, silver, horn and carved wood. The ivory handles usually were of a bulbous mushroom shape. When carved the heads of animals and ducks were among the most popular. When handles were made from antlers they were combined with monogrammed silver or brass panels. Shafts were made of oak, rosewood, ebony and malacca. The rattan shafts often were topped with carved ivory figures. Female heads are rare however full length figures of women were often carved in unflattering or explicit poses.

After the American Revolution it was fashionable for men to carry a walking stick with a sword inside.

CLUES: Canes and walking sticks can be dated by the subjects of carving and the materials used. During the first quarter of the 19th century, in keeping with the patriotic fervor of the time, eagles of ivory and wood topped the walking sticks.

The most expensive examples featured gold eagles with ruby eyes.

After the Civil War it was popular to make canes from pieces of historic places or things, such as wood from a ship or fort. The cane would then be inscribed with the place of origin and date.

Antler handles were among the most common type of walking sticks from 1870 to 1900. The "country gentleman" walking stick, an innovation, was rustic and often of thorny briar. The handles were unadorned or covered with lizard skin.

The fancier versions sported silver end caps.

Towards the end of the walking stick and "fancy" cane era the simplicity of beautiful wood was set off with a gold or silver monogrammed ring.

By the early 20th century there were novelty canes that did everything from dispensing coins to unfolding into a camera tripod. During Prohibition, a real winner was the cane that held a liquor flask.

In a special category are folk art canes and walking sticks, made in the late 19th to early 20th century. The decoration may be a carving in the wood, enhanced with colored paints or ink. Appealing to collectors are those with sculptures applied. The serpent is probably the most common motif. Sometimes the head forms the top of the walking stick or cane. Othertimes the cane is carved to twist and turn like a snake.

Serpent canes and walking sticks have long been reproduced and it is hard to tell old from new. Another problem is few folk art canes are dated.

Figural head ivory canes have also been reproduced in plastic that looks convincing.

Another category for cane and walking stick collectors are souvenir or novelty canes for children. One souvenir cane from the 1890s contained an American flag. Another, from the 1939 New York World's Fair contained a map of the fairgrounds. More recent are Elvis and Dolly images.

Shuman Wins Best Of Show In Hay Competition

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Duane Shuman, Bloomsburg, Columbia County, took grand champion in the hay competition at the 2003 Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Shuman's alfalfa was picked as the best by judge Lester Vough from Brookeville, Md. Shuman's entries won both the first, and later cutting-alfalfa-in-the-field-dried-only division before going on to be named grand champion. Reserve grand champion was awarded to Wilmer Kuhns's later-cutting alfalfa that came from the partially field-cured-plus hay preservative division. Kuhns is from Chambersburg in Franklin County.

Nearly 100 entries were judged on maturity, leafiness, color, odor, and presence of foreign materials such as weeds or sticks. Also, each entry was given chemical scores for protein content and feed and dollar values per ton of hay.

Entries are sorted into three different divisions based on heat drying. The first division is for no heat drying, the second for partial heat drying, and the last for heat drying plus a preservative. Within these divisions, there are classes for the different varieties including alfalfa, clover, grass, and mixed varieties.

Placings in the hay competition follow:

Corn Competition Winners Named At Farm Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — It was a celebration of corn as the judging got under way during the annual corn competition at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, Sunday, Jan. 12.

Judge Paul Craig of Dauphin, Dauphin County, was the judge for this year's event, and carefully examined each entry for such things as uniformity of display, good examples of what's available, imperfections, and quality and abundance of kernels.

Judge Craig said that "picking out 10 similar ears is a pretty big challenge" for producers who are making their final entry decisions.

Shell corn and ornamental corn were also judged. Shell corn, a grain crop made from combined ear corn, is evaluated for appearance, color, and contamination. Additionally, it's put through quality indicators such as a moisture test and bushel weight determination, which will give some more scientific data to place the entries. Corn in this category must be submitted in four-quart volumes. Ornamental corn, known as Indian corn, and varieties of popping corn also have their own classes, and are judged in a similar manner.

Winners by category are as follows:

District I, 10 ear hybrid dent· 1. Joanne Sharpless Cruse 2. Wendy Wickard. 3 Ed Wickard

District II, 10 ear hybrid dent: 1. Robert Swartz 2 Daniel Christ.

Statewide, 10 ear open pollinated or hybrid dent: 1. Daniel Christ. 2. Vernon Wickard.

DOE Grant Advances Research Into Corn Markets

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The National Corn Growers Association, Archer Daniels Midland and the Department of Energy's Pacific Northwest National Laboratory will continue collaborating to explore new markets for corn with a $2.4 million research grant from DOE.

The award enables NCGA, ADM and PNNL to extend their research on corn fiber utilization by two and a half years.

The highly skilled project team is multidisciplinary, consisting of business managers, engineers, chemists and biochemists from ADM, NCGA and PNNL.

The aim of the research is to convert corn fiber to higher value products, thereby opening new markets for corn growers. Under the agreement, the partners intend to economically derive high-value chemicals and oils from lower value corn fiber.

In doing so, they plan to demonstrate a sizable leap in technology. The project will encompass purification and characterization of trace amounts of chemicals to designing and constructing a pilot plant capable of recovering high-value carbohydrates at a production level.

The project is valued at $4.86 million, half funded by DOE and the remainder underwritten by NCGA and ADM.

The NCGA has long supported research targeting the increased utilization of corn fiber as a way to increase the overall value for corn.

The anticipated rise in demand for ethanol will result in an oversupply of feed byproducts from corn processing plants. According to Charles Abbas, ADM's project coordinator, "Processing of corn fiber from corn wet-mills to higher value products is essential to expanding corn wet-mills and to maintaining profitability of our industry. DOE's support for this project as a part of the U.S. focus on biobased products from renewables is indispensable to the further expansion of corn biorefineries."

New Holland Offers New Seedbed Preparation, Planting Tools

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Producers looking to get the next year's crop off to a great start need look no further than the new line of seedbed preparation and planting tools, now available from New Holland.

"Our customers know New Holland delivers solutions designed to meet their specific needs," says Dale Simplson, marketing manager for Soil Management Systems, New Holland. "These products are another example of how we listen to our customers and of how committed we are to providing the products that meet those needs."

Since a producer has only one chance to get their seedbed preparation right, New Holland tips the scales in the producer's favor, with the ST250 field cultivator and SG120 crumbler seedbed finisher (crumbler is optional), and the ST740 mulch-till ripper.

The ST250 creates a firmer, more level seedbed — which improves seed-to-soil contact for better germination — by utilizing a true five-rank frame with shanks no closer than 24 inches, from center-to-center. This minimizes plugging and coupled with its large 5.90 by 15, four-ply stabilizer wheels, keeps the machine running efficiently, despite the terrain. The ST250 can be equipped with a variety of harrow options, all of which are designed to handle heavy residue without clumping, dragging and level operations, for optimum finishing characteristics.

When equipped with the SG120 crumbler, the ST250 cultivates, incorporates, levels and firms, maximizing the crop's yield potential through better germination and reduced crusting and erosion issues.

The New Holland ST-740 mulch-till ripper delivers improves soil tilth, residue management and seedbed conditioning, with one-pass convenience. The combination of shallow-concavity front disk blades provides superior performance without efficiency issues at higher speeds.

The new SP580 planter — in 12-row and 16-row pivot transport toolbars — rounds out New Holland's new product offerings. These planters boost productivity by allowing growers to cover more ground at higher speeds, through metering technology designed to have fewer ground speed and rpm limitations than other planters.

For corn, the metering system adapts to the seed size, whether it be flat, round, plateless or of a mixed grade, virtually eliminating the hassle of multiple disc changes. As a result, these planters provide improved plantability, superior seed spacing, more accurate depth control, and enhanced seed-to-soil contact, all at higher speeds for the ultimate in planting efficiency.

These planters work well in conventional or no-till systems, and the narrow disc angle of the offset double-disk opener, creates minimal soil disturbance while reducing side-wall compaction.

Merial Ivomec Scholarship Offered

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association (PCA) has announced that a $1,000 scholarship will be available to a young person planning a career related to the cattle industry.

Funding for this scholarship is provided through PCA's previous participation in the Ivomec: Generations of Excellence™ program.

"Nothing is more important than providing a sound education for tomorrow's producers," according to Terry L. Shearer, president of PCA. "Those planning to work in the changing cattle industry into the next century will need to be proficient in animal and crop sciences, business economics, and communications.

That's why PCA and Merial are providing a $1,000 Ivomec Scholarship to help a deserving young cattleman or cattlewoman prepare for the future."

The Merial Ivomec/PCA Scholarship will be awarded based on the applicant's interest in the industry, leadership, academic achievement, and organizational involvement.

Interested youth should request application forms directly from the PCA office. Completed applications must be postmarked on or before March 1.

"We are pleased to team up with Merial to offer this very special scholarship opportunity to a young person in Pennsylvania," says Shearer.

"There's no question that education, along with practical experience, is the key to the future competitiveness of the U.S. agricultural industry. Offering this scholarship is just one of the ways in which PCA is helping prepare and develop tomorrow's leaders."

For more information about the Merial Ivomec/PCA Scholarship, the Beef Expo, or other PCA and beef industry activities, contact the PCA office via phone or fax at 862 Webster Drive, State College, PA 16801, (814) 238-5888, check the Website at www.pacattle.org, or contact by e-mail at llw@psu.edu.

Frontier Announces New Mower Conditioners

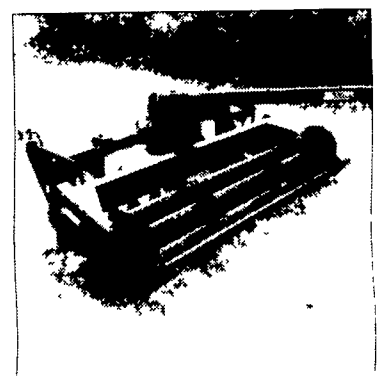
LENEXA, Kan. — Responding to the needs of hay and forage growers in North America, Frontier Equipment introduces the new Frontier Center Pivot Sickle Mower Conditioners.

The new mower conditioners will be available in three models: MC1212, 12-foot 3-inch width; MC1214, 14-foot 3-inch width; and MC1216 16-foot 3-inch width.

"These sickle-bar mower conditioners offer features that will bring more productive cutting time to the operator," says Steve Geick, marketing manager, Frontier Equipment. "Each mower features a fully enclosed oil bath wobble box for worry-free operation and uninterrupted cutting."

A mechanical sickle drive efficiently transfers power to the single-sickle cutterbar that aggressively handles a large capacity crop. The single-sickle design needs less maintenance and is very cost-effective.

The conditioning rolls have non-contact, intermeshing V-bar design that provides a positive crimping action. They automatically separate when the cutterbar is raised. This provides for easy power-through in tough plugging conditions. There are 10 V-bars per roll that reduce wrapping and crop wear through all field conditions.



Frontier new 16-foot 3-inch width mower, one of three new models.

"The 20-inch progressive-pitch auger has six sets of fingers," says Geick. "This allows for even feeding, full conditioning roll usage, and a positive crop flow. The auger pan is close to the auger for better crop control. There's also an easy-to-adjust swath plate that can create windrows 30 inches to 93 inches. No tools are needed to adjust the swather and the adjustment rods allow for a positive setting."

Pesticide Information, Product Registration System Online

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Public access to information about pesticide products, pest control and pesticide applicators in Maryland is now available online without cost.

Pesticide businesses in Maryland can complete product registration and renewal over the Internet at reduced costs as a result of a public-private agreement between the Maryland Department of Agriculture and Kelly Registration Systems, Inc., of Covington, Georgia.

"This is a major initiative to use the Internet to provide valuable information and services to both industry and consumers quickly and easily," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Hagner R. Mister. "Because the service is free to the public, and costs business less than traditional registration processes, everyone stands to benefit."

The Internet access, software applications, and maintenance are all provided to the state at no cost to taxpayers. The development costs for the system, valued in excess of $2 million, are recouped through a user fee from companies doing business in Maryland that subscribe to the service.

The program allows anyone to access to information on pesticides, and to help them search for pest control dealers in their area, without cost. Pesticide manufacturers and distributors can renew existing product registrations and register new products online.

Licensed dealers, applicators and consumers are now able to search the Maryland database for information about pesticide products registered for use in the state, locate licensed pest control businesses in their area, and obtain a list of certified pesticide applicators.

The new Web site is located at www.kellysolutions.com/md.

Pesticide Meetings In Millersville

Land O'Lakes To Focus Feed Research In St. Louis

ARDEN HILLS, Minn. — Land O'Lakes announced plans to consolidate and focus its feed research facilities into its St. Louis, Mo. location.

Current basic feed research at Ft. Dodge, Iowa and Kansas City will relocate to St. Louis. Calf milk replacer, seed and agronomy employees will remain at the Ft. Dodge Research Center.

Plans were also announced for the consolidation of the Sure-Tech Laboratories Quality Control facility operations into the Indianapolis location.

"Since our acquisition of Purina Mills in late 2001, we have been evaluating our systems and facilities. This decision is based on the need to maximize the efficiency of our operations and continue our focus on superior, high-quality products," said Bob DeGregorio, president, Land O'Lakes Farmland Feed. "A facility review indicated that the St. Louis location was the appropriate choice for our feed research needs. It has the available space, technology, and research capabilities to support our organization now and into the future. It will allow us to continue to develop new products for our major brands, solidifying our industry leading research position."

The St. Louis facility is located on approximately 1,200 acres, more than twice the size of the Ft. Dodge location. There have been significant investments made in the St. Louis facility. It has a pilot plant for processing and manufacturing research and facilities for horse and beef research.

The Ft. Dodge and Kansas City research facility consolidation will affect approximately 34 employees. DeGregorio said the staffing structure at the St. Louis facility will be determined over the next several months.

Land O'Lakes officials said the consolidation will take place in phases and will be completed by the end of the 2003.

Company officials indicated they are evaluating whether the Ft. Dodge research facilities and property will be offered for sale.

The closing of the Ft. Dodge Sure-Tech Quality Control Center affects approximately five employees. The Indianapolis operation will serve customers being served by the Ft. Dodge location.

One serious spreader

When your spreader is hauling a lot of weight, you shouldn't have to worry about poor construction.

New Holland puts a lot of steel in the right places... then guarantees their spreaders in writing for 12 years. Free sides or floors if they fail.

The sides are made of smooth, corrosion-resistant steel. the nearly indestructibles floor boards are made of high-tech plastic recycled from water and milk jugs.

Smooth on the inside for easy clean-out, New Holland spreader boxes have extra steel fame members for hauling really heavy loads.

Take a serious look at New Holland 155 Spreader today! NEW HOLLAND

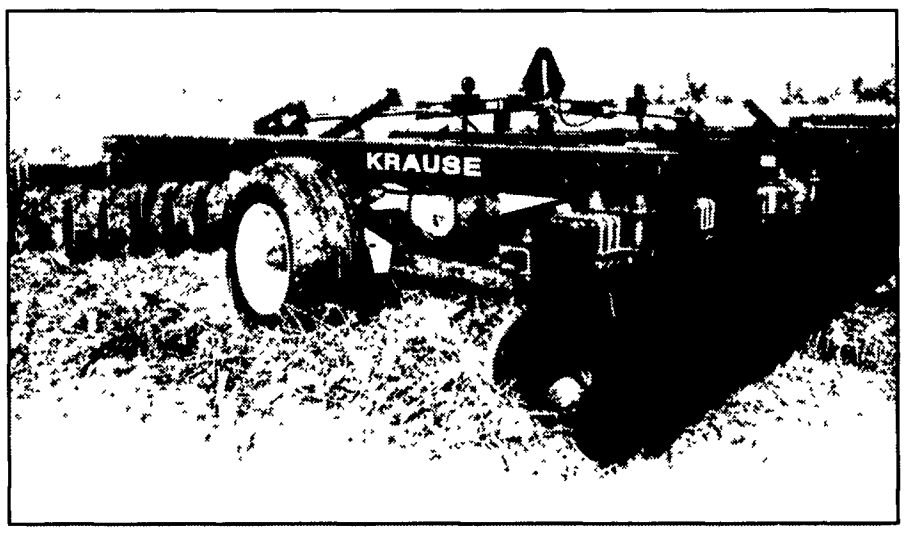
Tillage Methods Change...
Krause's Quality Never Does



Since 1916 Krause has been the leader in agricultural tillage equipment, emphasizing the profit-till system based on tillage practices to increase your productivity. While tillage practices have changed dramatically since 1916, the profit-till system continues to drive Krause Corporation, where tillage tools are built to maximize the productivity of each pass.

The Four Key Elements of Profit Till

CROP RESIDUE MANAGEMENT – Protects soil from erosion by minimizing runoff

SOIL TILTH – A determining factor of a pla potential for root development and yield potential

PLANT FOOD AVAILABILITY – Healthy, non-compacted soil promotes the growth o a well-developed root system

SEED BED CONDITIONS – Plants that get off to a quick and healthy start have the best chance for maximum yield potential

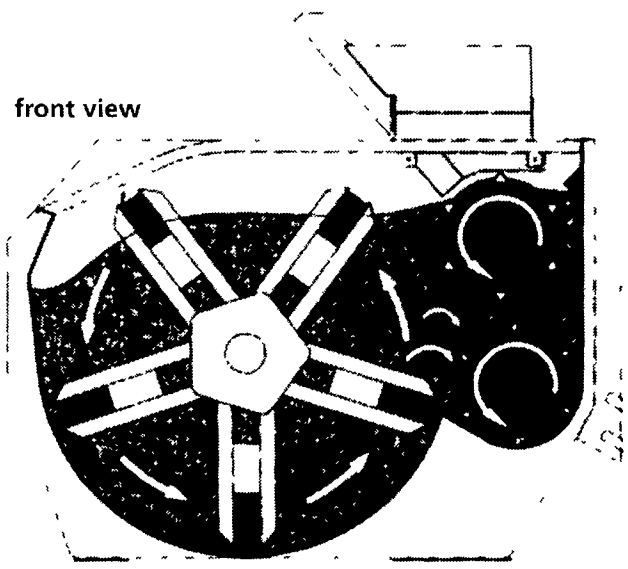
KNIGHT . . . the REEL Advantage

A Faster, More Thorough Mix

front view



The large-diameter reel provides a gentle tumbling action and the two side augers produce an end-to-end blending action. This unique combination ensures faster mixing and unloading times, and a very thorough mix, even when mixing small batches.

Log Cabin Farm
Catalog Plus
Comes in 1 gallon and 35 lb containers
Feed at least 1 oz per 500 lb of weight per day
Owners of bred mares: feed Best Bloom to give your foals a jump-start on life
Horse Farmers: feed Best Bloom to help your work teams shed out winter hair and be energized for heavy Spring work
Horse owners in general: you will love!! the shine this product puts on your horse
Many care providers are tempted to overfeed proteins and minerals The feeding program that provides a 10 12% protein from grain and a good, green hay that is free of dust or mold is adequate in most cases Most operations will benefit greatly from using this product as an addition to an already good feeding program It will provide the extra bloom that makes horsekeeping so rewarding
